Storm Is Closing in On Isles

Hurricane Packs Winds of 90-MPH

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Faith rolled west over the tropical Atlantic on a course that could smash her fury onto the mountainous isles of the eastern Caribbean tonight—and stymie scientists who hope to dilute the tropical storm.

Called a dangerous hurricane by the San Juan, P.R., Weather Bureau, Faith packed winds up to 90 miles an hour and threw out gale-force winds for 400 miles as she closed on Dominica, Guadeloupe and Marie Galente.

375,000 Get Alert

Residents of the islands—about 375,000—were ordered to evacuate areas subject to flooding and board up for the powerful winds and heavy rains.

The 4,000-foot jagged mountain range in Dominica, one of the British-owned Windward Islands, was not expected to affect the strong storm.

"Even it if hit the mountains directly it would disrupt it only slightly," said Arnold Sugg, forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau "The mountains are not extensive enough to change its intensity."

The mountains in Guadeloupe rise abruptly from the sea on the west coast and slope gently down in the east in an almost continuous range.

Winds to Increase

Winds should start increasing in the warning area this afternoon and evening and reach full force about midnight.

Faith was located about 550 miles due east of Dominica and 900 miles east southeast of San Juan, was moving toward the west at 23 miles an hour.

The western course could thwart scientists' hopes of seeding Faith. The attempt to tame her is possible only if she makes a northern swing into the testing ground north of Puerto Rico.

Northerly Swing Unlikely

Little change in size and intensity was expected early today.

If Faith slips into the testing area, scientists planned to dispatch a fleet of planes from Puerto Rico to launch a massive bomb attack with silver iodide crystals in hopes of draining the energy she draws from heat and moisture.

Delay Unmanned Saturn Lift Off at Cape Kennedy In Test for 3-Man Shot

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's man to the moon program faces a critical test today with a powerful Saturn 1 rocket scheduled to hurl an unmanned Apollo spaceship three-quarters of the way around the world. The aim is to qualify it for a three-man earth orbit flight in December.

Due to technical troubles, the shot was put off for an hour until 1:30 p. m. It was originally scheduled for 12:30.

The Apollo ship, equipped with everything except the astronauts and their sleeping couches, was to ride into space at 12:30 p. m. under the massive thrust of the Saturn 1, the United States' most powerful rocket.

Plan December Trip

If all goes well on the 93-minute test and there are no other development problems, three astronauts will take a trip of up to 14 days in December to trigger an all-out drive to land men on the moon in 1968.

The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space laboratory weighing nearly two tons Wednesday on an undisclosed mission to the moon, prompting speculation it might photograph the moon's surface or perhaps land an animal on the moon. A Soviet satellite made a controlled "soft" landing on the moon in February, four months ahead of the United States.

The latest Soviet vehicle, Luna 11, weighs more than four times as much as the 850-pound American Lunar Orbiter, which is now taking pictures of potential astronaut landing sites on the moon.

The pilots for the first Apollo earth orbit journey will be Air Force Lt. Cols. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee.

The 28-ton Apollo craft was to soar today to a peak altitude of 706 miles above Africa, then—with some tricky maneuvers by its guidance system and steering engine — was to skip back through the earth's atmosphere like a rock skimming across the water.

The 5½-ton cabin section in which future astronauts will ride was to separate and parachute to a landing in the north-central Pacific 300 miles southeast of Guam after a 17,825-mile trip.

A recovery force headed by the aircraft carrier Hornet was stationed in the landing zone.

On its fiery plunge back through the atmosphere, the cabin section was to reach a speed of 19,450 miles an hour, during which temperatures up to 2,700 degrees Fahrenheit were to sear its protective heat shield.

"It is a tough mission," said Air Force Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Appollo program director for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's office of manned space flight.

He said the flight would pro-

House Ready for Battle On Calling Up Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House squares off today for a fight over including in a defense appropriation bill authority for President Johnson to call up some Reserves for active duty. The President has not asked for such authority.

The provision was written into the $58-billion bill by the Senate. It was not included in the defense money bill originally passed by the House.

Under present law, the President can call up Reserves only after declaring a state of national emergency — and then may call them to the colors only as units.

The Reserves provision added by the Senate is not mandatory for the President.

Spokesmen for National Guard and Reserve organizations opposed the proposal. They claimed it would wreck the Reserves.

The Reserves provision was listed as the first order of business for today's House session. It was expected to be opposed by most Republicans and most members of the House Armed Services Committee which now is considering a separate bill dealing with Reserve forces.

Under the Senate provision, Reservists or National Guardsmen could be called to active duty up to 24 months, minus any time previously on active duty for training purposes.

Sign to Avoid Draft

Proponents of the Reserve provision have contended that many draft-age youths have signed up for Reserve and Guard duty to avoid induction for active military service.

They argued that the policy of allowing young men to fulfill their military obligation without the risk of going into combat was unfair to those who are drafted or who volunteer for active duty.

Since the appropriations measure passed by the House and the one approved by the Senate differed, the measures were sent to a Senate-House conference where a compromise was reached Wednesday. Among other things, the compromise included agreement for the House to vote on the Senate's Reserves provision.

Favor Modification

The conferees agreed to go along with the Senate provision with modifying language requiring that the identities of Reserve units ordered to active duty be retained and that family and economic status be considered.

While the Senate-House conferees were reaching their agreement Wednesday, the Pentagon provided more details on a military training program announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in a New York speech Tuesday.

Under the program, thousands of men who in the past would have been rejected for military service because they did not score high enough in physical or intelligence and aptitude tests, will be inducted.

During their first months in

Planes Stage Heaviest Raids of War on North

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes staged the heaviest raids of the war on North Viet Nam Wednesday, flying a record 146 missions, the U.S. Military Command announced today.

Fighting also flared on the ground today.

188 Enemy Killed

U.S. Marines clashed again in brisk fighting with North Vietnamese army regulars in the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

The Military Command disclosed that the Leathernecks were engaged in two new operations and so far have killed 188 of the enemy.

Fighting also erupted 20 miles north of Saigon where units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division engaged a reinforced company of Viet Cong troops early today.

300,000 Yanks in Viet

In other developments:

—The Military Command announced that the number of American servicemen in Viet Nam had surpassed 300,000. A buildup to 350,000 to 400,000 is expected by the end of the year.

—U.S. battle deaths for the week that ended last Saturday were 91, ten fewer than the week before. In addition 425 Americans were wounded and eight were listed as missing or captured. South Vietnamese forces had 216 killed and 414 wounded or captured.

—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, opening South Viet Nam's national election campaign, called for a large turnout of voters Sept. 11 but warned of an increase in Communist terrorism aimed at disrupting the elections.

Seven Over Earlier High

The 146 missions flown against the Communist North exceeded the previous record set earlier this month by seven.

An official U.S. spokesman would not disclose the number of sorties—individual plane strikes—involved, but acknowledged that they were the highest so far in the war. This would probably run from 400 to 500 forays.

American pilots claimed heavy destruction. Four of 18 oil storage depots attacked were damaged and several others probably hit but smoke and dust prevented an accurate assessment.

One Raid in Hanoi Area

Most of the attacks were concentrated in the Southern Panhandle and just north of the demilitarized zone. Only one raid was made in the Hanoi area—against an oil depot 18 miles from the Communist capital with results not announced.

The Air Force flew 71 missions, Navy pilots 68 and U.S. Marines seven.

Today's ground action followed two engagements 90 miles apart in the northern section of South Viet Nam by U.S. Marines Wednesday. They reported 211 Communist dead and said they suffered only light casualties themselves.

Despite heavy antiaircraft fire, pilots reported they damaged or destroyed 70 barges, 27 bridges, 43 military supply buildings and 54 freight cars and a locomotive.

Most of the freight cars were hit during three raids by carrier-based Navy planes on the 40-car train. Pilots reported the train's locomotive and 11 cars

Surprises Likely: Senator

Dirksen Disputes LBJ's Vote Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's confident prediction that the Democrats will hold their strength in Congress in the November elections drew strong dissent today from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Johnson observed Wednesday at a news conference that he thinks the people generally approve of what he is trying to do.

He followed this up by telling party workers at a "dollars for Democrats" rally that if they plug his administration's record "we will have a resounding Democratic victory in the congressional campaign this year."

Says Surprises Likely

If the President believes that, Dirksen said in an interview, he is likely to be in for some surprises.

"There is a definite trend in the country against this administration and for the Republicans," Dirksen said. "The mood of the people is such that I believe we are going to make substantial gains in Senate and House races."

Asked what he thinks is the basis for this mood, he replied:

"Everything. There is a tapestry of discontent being woven out of war, inflation, the high cost of living, our gold difficulties, violent demonstrations in the streets and other things I could recite endlessly. The mood is there and it is growing."

Johnson noted that since 1890 the party not occupying the White House had gained an average of 41 seats in elections when the presidency is not at stake.

Doubts Major Turnover

"But I do not have the feeling that there will be any substantial turnover in either the House or the Senate," he added.

The President called on the Republicans to point to any district where they felt sure of winning. He said "they carefully stay away from that."

Dirksen said that he, like

Johnson Promises O'Connor Support If He Is Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor, the front runner for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York, has President Johnson's promise of support — if he gets the nod.

O'Connor, who met Wednesday with Johnson at the White House, said the President told him he would not intervene in the selection of the nominee but would support whoever is named.

O'Connor, 56-year-old president of the New York City Council, said he is confident he will be nominated at the party's convention in Buffalo, Sept. 7-8

He said at a National Press Club luncheon Wednesday that he has 720 pledged delegates with only 573 needed to win. O'Connor also said Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., "my old and good friend," would campaign for the party's nominee.

Kennedy's participation would come, O'Connor said, in the crucial phases of the campaign against Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

O'Connor told reporters he spent 40 pleasant minutes with Johnson. He said they discussed politics briefly and some of the many problems that have excessively burdened New York and other big metropolitan areas.

O'Connor had this to say when

DeGaulle Begins World Tour

Cambodian Visit Key Segement of Trip

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle left today on an around-the-world trip, including a state visit to Cambodia whose leader, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has been vociferously opposed to American policy in neighboring Viet Nam.

Major Speech Sept. 1

De Gaulle plans a major speech in the Cambodian capital, Phnom Penh, Sept. 1 in which he is expected to push his campaign for a united, neutral Viet Nam.

Whether he would condemn U.S. policy in Viet Nam from that rostrum was a matter of diplomatic speculation here. He has been critical of it in the past but observers noted he was restrained about the situation while visiting the Soviet Union last spring.

The president, accompanied by his wife, flew from Paris in an American-built DC8 jet on the 22nd anniversary of the liberation of the city by French and American troops.

Overshadows Rest

Although his 27,000-mile trip includes stops in Djibouti, French Somaliland; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia; New Caledonia; Tahiti, and Guadeloupe, his visit to Cambodia-formerly a part of French Indochina—overshadowed the rest.

France-Soir, biggest newspaper in France, bannerlined, "De Gaulle has decided to say everything he thinks on Viet Nam," What that was, however, remained a secret.

Besides stressing French interest in its old Southeast Asian empire, De Gaulle also plans a demonstration of France's interest in the new world of nuclear diplomacy.

May Watch 'A' Test

His visits to Djibouti—first stop on the tour—and Addis Ababa are expected to involve discussions of the future of French Somaliland on the Red Sea. Both independent Somaliland and Ethiopia claim this last French-ruled land in Africa.

De Gaulle, 75, appeared in good health as he left Paris—an important factor in view of the tropical temperatures he faces during most of the 19-day journey. Wearing his general's uniform, he saluted an honor guard and stood at attention while a military band played the Marseillaise.

He made no public statement, but chatted with Premier Georges Pompidieu and others who came to see him off.

Expect 350 New Signees at UCCC

Early registration — designed to provide for a smoother transition from high school to college —now is underway at Ulster County Community College.

The goal, according to Dean of Students Donald Crout, is to register 350 first-year students by Friday afternoon. These students were invited to register early through specific appointments, starting Monday.

"It is only being conducted for new full-time freshmen," Dean Crout said. "Rather than having them going to regular registration in September when things move at a faster pace, these students are being given special attention and are being registered in small groups now. They're receiving positive and personal assistance. They're talking with skilled counselors and guidance personnel and receiving special help in preparing their programs for this fall."

President Signs Resnick Pet Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law a bill aimed at curbing what some have called a multimillion-dollar racket — the theft of pets for sale to scientific laboratories.

The measure, which received final congressional approval last week, also requires humane care and treatment for animals to be used in medical research.

During a signing ceremony in the White House Wednesday, Johnson said progress in science and medicine requires the use of animals for research but added that the measure would not interfere with that.

The U.S. Humane Society has estimated that the nationwide traffic in stolen dogs alone brings in at least $50 million annually.

Y Member List Grows, Plan New Facilities

Membership in the Kingston YMCA moved from 238 to 381 in the period June 1, 1965 to June 1, 1966, which represents a 58 per cent increase over last year's membership.

Breakdown of the membership totals shows an increase of 271 boys over last year's total of 216, and an increase of 110 girls over 22.

Since the beginning of June this summer, membership has moved up a total of 127 persons (60 boys and 67 girls), bringing the complete membership up to 508 actively enrolled youths.

Announcement was made Wednesday by YMCA Executive Secretary Robert O. Stubbs at a meeting of the Kingston Rotary Club. He added that "In 1966 we have registered 510 children in our youth day camp program, an increase of 156 over last year's total of 354. Also, we now have over 70 lady members of the YMCA's recently organized ladies health club."

After the showing of a film, Come Grow With Us which depicted YMCA activities starting with the nursery class, Stubbs outlined projects which the YMCA will undertake next year.

Coming up this fall are such programs as family swims every Saturday afternoon, family recreation nights, a morning nursery for young mothers with small children, tap, toe dancing, ballet and twirling classes for little girls to supplement present gym and swim classes and mother-daughter and father-son swims.

Also on the agenda are the addition of first and second grade boys on a membership basis, and a new health club and recreation program for high school girls.

In other noteworthy new program developments this year, 94 persons became partners with youth, enabling many youth to have a camping or youth pro-

Teen Guards Hoist Red Flag Over Peking School, Operated by Nuns

TOKYO (AP) — A mob of teen-age Red Guards today broke into Peking's Sacred Heart Academy, a Roman Catholic school run by French nuns, and hoisted a red flag over it.

Japanese correspondents in the Communist Chinese capital reported they also put a bust of Mao Tze-tung in the school and plastered its walls with signs reading "Get out, foreign devils," and "Chase out the running dogs of imperialism."

The Red Guards and adults backing them blocked the school doors and made it impossible to hold classes.

The Sacred Heart Academy, almost 100 years old, has not been under the jurisdiction of the Chinese Communist government.

The teen-agers continued to surge through the streets howling for reforms which ranged from renaming Peking "The East is Red"—Tung Fang Hung — to the abolition of Chinese checkers and Western chess.

The Catholic school, said to be one of the few remaining still run by foreigners, is attended by children of foreign residents in Peking.

The newspaper Yomiuri said students, their parents and foreign diplomats who tried to protest against the demonstration by Red Guard youths were helpless.

Yomiuri also reported three members of a family, believed to be well-to-do, were forced to wear red clothing and forced to stand outside the front gate of their home while being jeered by the crowd.

Posters have been pasted on the walls throughout the better residential district of Peking, reports said. They warned "landowners, rich farmers and capitalists to leave their homes within three days, to leave Peking by Sept. 10."

The New China News Agency said Red Guards in Peking, Shanghai and Tientsin "have marched into the streets to make a general onslaught on old ideas, old culture, and old customs and habits.

"Today an all-out attack is being launched by the Red Guards and the revolutionary workers against the ideology of all exploiting classes."

Japanese correspondents in Peking reported the guards dragged adults, including old women, through the streets after hanging placards around their necks reading "I opposed the revolution." Crowds of youths surrounded the adults shouting slogans and jeering.

The Red Guards have been reported on the rampage with government backing since Aug. 20. They are mostly recent graduates of high schools.

MarvellaProposes Network Plan for Zoning Problems

Joseph A. Marvella, Liberal Party candidate for the New York State Senate from the 38th Senatorial District including Ulster and Dutchess Counties today called for a mandatory comprehensive development plan to oversee all zoning ordinances and planning operations in a community.

"It is impossible to cope with the multitudes of problems of our exploding communities without the guidance of a comprehensive plan," he said.

Following is text of Marvella's statement:

"The United States in general, and our State in particular, are becoming more and more urban in character. Each year finds greater numbers of our population living or seeking their livelihood in and around such expanding metropolitan centers as New York, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Yonkers, Albany, Schenectady, Poughkeepsie and Binghamton, to mention a few. Resolving the many serious and growing problems of the urban regions is one of the great challenges of our times.

"Experience has shown that urban areas with planning agencies have often tended to operate on an ad hoc basic, acting only from crisis to crisis. We feel it is impossible to cope with the multitude of problems of our exploding communities without the guidance of a comprehensive plan.

"The present planning enabling legislation should be amended to make it mandatory that all zoning ordinances and planning operations in a community be based upon a comprehensive development plan adopted officially by that community. Such legislation should also include a mandate requiring all state funds for housing, highways or any other public improvements concerned with the physical development of the community be made only to those communities which shall have adopted a comprehensive development plan within a stated and reasonable period.

"Existing Federal and State Renewal laws are adequate to the task of assisting communities realize development according to their comprehensive development plans, in hard core slums and the deterioraion areas that surround them.

Orbiter Facing Busy Schedule

The schedule included transmission of a picture of the earth taken Tuesday and photographing the fifth of nine potential astronaut landing sites on the moon's surface.

Because of the diffusion of sunlight by the earth's atmosphere, officials said they thought the picture would show a gradual shading from light to dark instead of a well-defined line as on the moon.

So far, the camera aboard the spacecraft has exposed 114 frames of film, each containing two pictures. Half were taken by a high-resolution lens and the rest by a standard-resolution lens.

Slutsky Family Receives Honors By Rescue Squad

Ida, Ben and Charles Slutsky of the Fallsview Hotel, Ellenville, were presented with a plaque in recognition of their work in "all good causes" at a dinner to benefit the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad, Sunday night.

Mrs. Dorothy Burkhouse, president of the squad, on whose behalf the plaque was presented to the Slutsky family, introduced Eli Bernsweig who had founded the First Aid and Rescue Squad. Bernsweig, who has moved from the Ellenville community, but who was in town on a brief visit, made the plaque presentation. The event was reported to be both a financial and social success.

Backs Last Ditch Effort to Roll Back Subway Fare

NEW YORK (AP) — The Board of Estimate has decided to back a last ditch effort to roll back the subway fare to 15 cents despite the objections of Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The board Wednesday informally approved a resolution by Comptroller Mario Procaccino to ask for an Appelate Division ruling on whether the city may legally give the Transit Authority an 84.3 million subsidy to roll back the fare from 20 cents.

Formal action on the resolution will be taken today.

Lindsay based his objection on a ruling last June by the city corporation counsel that transfer of the money was illegal without specific authorization of the State Legislature.

Procaccino said if the Appelate Division rules about a transfer is indeed illegal, he will introduce another resolution calling for a return of the $84.3 million to the taxpayers in the form of income tax credit.

If the transfer is approved and the Transit Authority still won't reduce the fare, he will ask it to take the money to keep the fare from going up to 25 cents, which Procaccino said will hapen by next June.

Driver Injured As Truck Rolls Over on Thruway

A 30-year-old New Jersey truck driver was injured at 4:15 a. m. today when a truck loaded with produce rolled over on the State Thruway near mile post 90.2 north of the Kingston interchange.

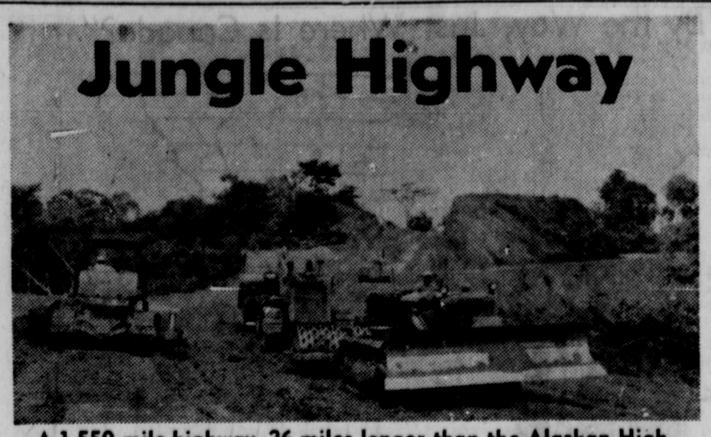

Trooper J. F. Ryan of the Thruway detail said Joseph Ambrosini, of Edwin Avenue, Fort Lee, N. J., was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's ambulance and treated for contusions of the left hip.

Ryan reported that Ambrosini told him that the outside left rear tire blew out as he was driving north, causing the vehicle to swerve and roll over on its side on the pavement. A minor traffic problem resulted until tow truck crews righted the vehicle and cleared the superhighway.

Ulster Hose Co. 1 from Spring Lake in command of Chief Clayton Elmendorf responded to a call and washed gasoline from the pavement in the accident area.

Jungle Highway

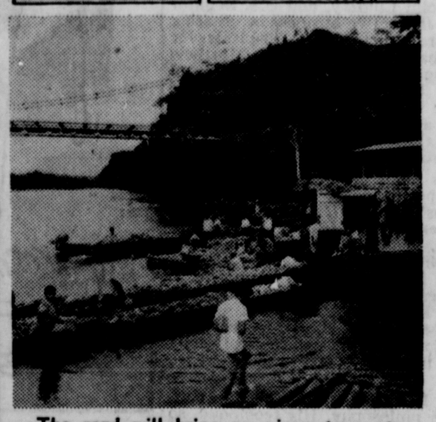

A 1,550-mile highway, 26 miles longer than the Alaskan Highway, is being slashed out of dense Amazon jungles to open up Peru's far east, long isolated by the rugged Andes from the narrow coastal strip where most of the country's population lives. Named the "Carretera Marginal," the road is costing some $90,000 a mile, financed in part by the Peruvian government and part by U.S. AID and the Export-Import Bank. It is expected to pay for itself many times over, opening up one of South America's richest agricultural regions and providing cheap land on a gigantic scale for Peru's impoverished farmers.

A wide, new bridge replaces a ramshackle old structure, left, across a jungle river. Heavy machinery had to be ferried from the Atlantic 1,500 miles up the Amazon River system to the jungle construction sites.

The road will bring new importance to small settlements previously dependent upon river traffic. Rich crops of bananas, other crops, vegetables, coffee and rubber are expected to multiply.

Bids U. S.-Canada Cooperation to Solve Water Need

MONTREAL (AP) — Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, says Canada and the United States should work together to solve mutual water problems.

Addressing a symposium here Wednesday, Moss said man is the villain when it comes to the problem of controlling water quality, but if he works with nature he "can harvest a water crop on a sustained yield basis." He added:

"My point then is that finally and perhaps fundamentally, Canada and the United States should approach the solution to their mutual problems of water supply vs. water demand together instead of separately.

"One of the first things to be done is for Canada to survey and measure her own water resources. Only after this is done can the people of Canada sensibly approach the question of continental distribution."

Javits, RFK Will Support Review Board for Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits will campaign jointly in support of the city's civilian-dominated Police Review Board if there is a referendum on the issue at the Nov. 8 general election.

They have agreed to serve as honorary cochairmen of a committee representing more than 50 civil rights, religious, political and labor groups planning to oppose efforts of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA) to have the board scrapped.

The PBA and the Conservative party oppose the civilian domination of the board — a campaign pledge of Mayor John V. Lindsay — on the ground it will impair Police Department morale and effectiveness.

Revelation of the Kennedy-Javits plans Wednesday brought this comment from Norman Frank, community relations counsel of the PBA:

"The story of David and Goliath is being recreated. The Goliaths are gathering, but David will reign supreme because he represents the people and a just cause.

"We now have the team of L.K.J. — Lindsay, Kennedy and Javits. It will be beatable"

Moves by the PPA and the Conservative party to get a rederendum on the ballot are pending in court.

Local Marines Press for Viet Peace Solution

"I will do everything in my power to see that our efforts to secure a peaceful negotiation in Viet Nam are heard in the right places."

Those were the words of Gilbert E. Gray, commandant of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, spoken before he left Kingston this morning for Albany where he and a delegation from the local unit will attend the National Marine Corps League convention which opened on Monday and concludes on Sunday.

Commandant Gray spoke as area vice-commandant of the Eastern New York State District, an office to which he was elected at the state convention in Buffalo in July.

Gray said the local detachment will again lead the state in supporting President Johnson's stand on the Viet Nam situation and also will support any stand taken to secure a peaceful settlement and a cease fire.

Accompanying Gray to Albany were, Marines Kurt Gruber, Danial Fochi, Valmore Carpenter, Joseph Sullivan, Albert Melville, James White, Jack Kerbert and Edward Whalen.

The New York State Marine Corps League convention was held in Buffalo last month, during which Gray was elected New York State Area Vice Commandant and Sullivan of Saugerties was elected New York State sergeant-at-arms.

Basin Drought Edict 3 Months

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Delaware River Basin Commission extended its 13-month-old drought emergency order Wednesday for another three months, until the end of November.

Also continued in effect was authorization for New York City to continue drawing up to 490 million gallons a day from the Delaware; New York is required to release enough water from storage to maintain a minimum flow of 1,525 cubic feet per second at Milford, Pa., above the Delaware Water Gap.

Water storage in New York's reservoirs was reported about normal for August, but the commission, meeting here Wednesday, said precipitation, stream flows and well levels in the basin were still far behind normal although better than a year ago.

The drought emergency went into effect July 7, 1965.

Also somewhat improved over last year was the salt line in the Delaware River, the line between fresh water flowing down stream and salt water intruding upstream from the bay.

The commission said it has reached the vicinity of the mouth of the Schuylkill River, in south Philadelphia, 20 miles below that city's Torresdale water intake, and about four miles below its location a year ago.

Clothes Too Tight, Female Is Fired; Co-Workers Strike

GARDINER, Ore. (AP) — "At first you laugh about it, then you get mad," says a waitress whose husband is among more than 300 workers who have struck the International Paper Co.'s plywood plant in this Southwest Oregon coastal community.

The strike began Tuesday when Miss Pat Morris, 35, was suspended from her job at the plant because she wore tightly fitting clothes.

Miss Morris, whose vital statistics are 39-27-39, says she is "heartbroken about so much trouble it has caused."

Miss Morris works the overnight shift with six other women who, like her, wear stretch jeans and sweaters. She is not a union member.

She was suspended by the plant foreman on the grounds that her tight sweaters and tight jeans were distracting to other workers.

"I don't know why they singled me out," she said. "The other women wore the same type of clothes. I told them I would buy other clothes on payday. They said something about being too stacked and sent me home."

Miss Morris says she works behind a pile of equipment and ears a "huge leather apron."

The company said she refused to change her attire after being orally warned about a week ago.

A local of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union held a meeting and maintained the company should have given her a warning in writing.

"It's a policy matter, not a personality matter," says Harley Gray, president of the union local. "We are not planning to go back to work until the company lifts the illegal suspension of this worker. We are willing to meet with the company at any time."

Gardiner is a suburb in the Coos Bay area which has a population of about 15,000. According to state statistics, the forest products industry is responsible for more than 20 per cent of the area's economy.

The manager of the plant, E.A. Meyers, calls the strike nonsense. He said, "The matter of attire is outside the contract. As a matter of fact, she had been warned several times about the way she dressed."

"I feel just terrible when I think of all the families with children that can be hurt by this," says Miss Morris.

SCRAPING SURPLUS BINS

Undoubtedly the "sleeper" story of the year—and maybe the century—is the sudden shrinking of America's once seemingly inexhaustible stocks of food.

For the first time in more than a decade, reports the New York Times, the nation is depending almost entirely on current production of farm products to meet its domestic and foreign requirements. This is especially so of grains. The only exception to the picture is cotton.

A number of factors are responsible, chief among them the world population explosion. But an increasing consumption of meat, both here and in the more affluent countries abroad, has also led to an increasing demand for grain for animal feed.

With other commodities, such as soybeans, crops have either not come up to expectation or demand has been greater than planned for.

Another factor is bureaucratic meddling in the form of what NEA correspondent Ray Cromley describes as an antiquated system of controls designed for an era of overabundance.

Farmers are told how much they can plant and are penalized by a reduction in government subsidy payments if they exceed this limit. Not only has this system discouraged wheat farmers from increasing production but it has encouraged others, such as small, marginal cotton growers, to continue planting this crop in order to qualify for the sure profit of subsidies rather than shifting to other crops where there is a booming market demand.

In terms of wheat, the arithmetic is simple:

This year's crop is forecastat about 1.2 billion bushels. Domestic needs and export shipmentsare estimated at 1.5 billion bushels. Consequently, as much as 300 million bushels may have to come out of reserves which, as of June 30, were down to 536 million bushels, the lowest in 13 years.

To the starving part of the world, if this trend were permitted to continue, it could mean disaster. For the American housewife, it could mean an even higher price tag on a loaf of bread.

Corn stocks held by the government are at 100 million bushels, down from 450 million last year, and the government has stopped selling corn for export entirely.

All of this did not come about unnoticed and overnight of course. The government started worrying about the wheat situation last spring and permitted farmers a 15 per cent increase in sowings for the 1967 crop. Just recently, another 15 per cent increase was granted.

Together, the increases will add 16.6 million acres to the national allotment, bringing it up to a total of 68.2 million acres. However, this is still far less than the 80 million acres that were sown each year before crop restrictions came along.

Many people have long been demanding the "unleashing" of the American farmer to raise as much as he wants of what he wants and to let the free market govern supply and demand.

In the past, the main cause for alarm was the enormous expense of paying farmers for not growing things and to maintain the warehouses bulging with the things they did grow.

In the remaining years of this century, the American Farmer may very well have to be unleashed—not to save money but to save people.

Congress and LBJ have passed the buck of anti-strike legislation back and forth so much, it's getting shiny.

FOOTNOTE TO DISASTER

At the time of the XB70 disaster in California last June, it appeared to the lay reader that unwarranted risks had been taken in the photographic venture that preceded the crash. Reports of very close approaches by picture-taking aircraft suggested that there had been too much zeal to closeups and too little concern for safety.

The Air Force has now said as much through its disciplining of four officers involved in the tragic fiasco. One man has been taken off the XB70 developmental project and assigned to other duties; three others have been formally reprimanded.

The disciplinary action supports the view that the officers made a serious mistake in authorizing a commercial photographic mission to get special shots of the half-billion dollar plane in flight. Defense Secretary McNamara reportediy has issued a memorandum saying that this picture venture was of questionable propriety. It was indeed questionable, both as to propriety and wisdom.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE SELF-HELP ROAD TO "BLACK POWER"

It is becoming more and more apparent that the advocates of "black power" are provoking an ugly counter-movement that is turning the "under $5,000-a-year" whites against Negroes in the big cities of the North. The rock-throwing by both sides in Chicago suggests the Congo more than an American city. Clear-sighted Negroes such as Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People deplore the business of matching one "wrong" by "projecting a continuing program of wrong-doing." In the fragmented world of race politics, men of good-will do not seem able to deal with the situation as one deals with fractious children, by saying "I don't care who started it, you're going to stop it." If "it" is going to be stopped, it will be by someone with the influence to cut in with an entirely new pattern between the radical Stokely Carmichaels of the "black power" movement and the so-called "Uncle Toms" who don't want trouble with whites.

I don't know what it takes to make a charismatic leader in the world of race politics. But anyone can recognize an intelligent approach. Intelligence is written all over the effort of Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, the Negro neurosurgeon who runs the Interfaith Hospital in the New York City borough of Queens, to give a constructive "self-help" twist to the idea of "black power." After trying, vainly, to interest such politicos as New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, New York City Mayor John Lindsay, and U.S. Senator Robert Kennedy in the active business of creating a non-profit corporation to build hospitals for Negroes and to rehabilitate slums, Dr. Matthew has taken the plunge for himself. He announced the other day the birth of a group called the National Economic Growth and Reconstruction Organization. The acronym for this, formed by combining the initial letters of the words, is, of course, NEGRO, proudly flaunted.

Dr. Matthew is for "black power." But he wants it to be real power, not verbiage. He grants the "good intentions" of both Stokely Carmichael of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and the Rev. Martin Luther King, but sees each of them "leading his people down a path to destruction." They have combined, he says, "to succeed where Barry Goldwater had failed, to create a white backlash. . . Carmichael is seen by some as a new Malcolm X, for all he has done so far is to call forth hatred which represents destructive black power, to white and Negro alike."

As for Rev. Dr. King, he "has seemed to confuse technique with philosophy. His technique, so successful in the South, has been to provoke his enemy into such violence as to arouse the conscience of the nation to legislate justice. In Chicago he has provoked a violence which bears no fruit. No sacrifice by demonstrators will secure open housing in Chicago because no sacrifice will give a single Negro the economic ability to buy a home in a middle class white community."

This is the voice of common sense. But common sense activity is something else again. Dr. Matthew hopes his new organization, NEGRO, will be able to raise the seed money needed to participate in federal and private matching fund programs that will put slum dwellers to work building hospitals and rehabilitating run-down houses for themselves. On the evening of September 24 NEGRO will stage a block party in the nation's financial center of Wall Street to open a bond campaign. Bonds will be sold for "as low as twenty-five cents"; they will begin to bear interest when the total in a single man's possession comes to five dollars. The capital raised will be put to training Negro carpenters, plumbers, electricians, and masons and to start in the two fields of hospital building and slum eradication. The drive will be to enlist Negro money in the Negro's cause, but if whites want to help out they will be welcome. Dr. Matthew does not believe in exclusion; all he wants is to see the Negro "standing up proud" in this business of creating a "black power" capable of getting cooperation from whites.

Dr. Matthew may fail in his ambitious attempt. But Negro money exists to put his idea across. "Let your money buy your freedom," says Dr. Matthew. The Negro consumer market is estimated to be around $27 billion a year. Surely some savings can be squeezed out of that to put Negroes to work creating hospitals, houses, and a thriving construction business for themselves.

Drugs Can Relieve Migraine Eye Pain

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A—This describes the aura which precedes an attack of migraine. In the typical attack the aura lasts 40 or 50 minutes and is followed by a severe headache over one eye. The headaches is often accompanied by vomiting. The attacks recur at irregular intervals.

An injection of ergotamine at the start of an attack should give relief. Persons who have these headaches frequently can prevent them by taking methysergide (Sansert) but this drug (available only on a doctor's prescription) will not relieve an attack that has already started. The drug should be taken only under medical supervision.

Q—I take Cafergot for migraine. Is it harmful? Do migraine attacks ever go away?

A—Cafergot is an ergotamine preparation. It should not be taken by anyone who has a disease of the heart, blood vessels or liver or who is pregnant. In most victims there is a gradual disappearance of the attacks when the half-century mark is passed.

Q—Are true migraine headaches common in young women? Are they just a nervous reaction or is there a definite underlying cause?

A—Migraine attacks are very common in young women. They usually start early in childhood but are not often recognized for what they are until late adolescence. The cause is a dilation of the blood vessels inside the skull which cause painful pressure on the nerves in that area. After much study medical scientists are still unable to say what triggers this process. Although nervous tension may aggravate these attacks they are not the primary cause.

Q—My doctor has had me take daily injections of Gynergen for my headaches for ever 12 years. Is there any kind of medicine I could take by mouth or, better yet, is there a permanent cure?

A—Gynergen is an ergotamine preparation that is effective in the treatment of migraine and other headaches due to circulatory disturbances in the skull. Methysergide by mouth may help you. Unless a removable cause for your headaches can be found the chance for a permanent cure are poor.

"By the Way, Just Where Is Canada?"

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Stokely Carmichael of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee seems to be suggesting, in recent public utterances, that most whites are comparatively well, off and nearly all Negroes are poor.

This generalization, if he intends his comment to be that, represents a vast and misleading over-simplification of white-Negroe economic status today.

It obscures the fact that in the last two decades Negroes have made substantial—if still greatly insufficient – economic progress. It also conceals the fact that millions of whites are very poor.

Some social analysts consider a $6,000-a-year family income the entry point into the steadily swelling American middle class. By that measure, about a fourth of the nation's 5 million Negro families today fall into the middle-class category.

In 1940 the figure was only 10 per cent. Even as recently as 1950 it was just 16 per cent.

There can be no joy over the fact that this clear progress still leaves 75 per cent of Negro families below middle-class levels and 36 per cent of the total below the $3,000 a year family income plane—in abject poverty.

Yet, though it cannot be a consolation, it is instructive to note that 40 per cent of the country's 45 million white families are likewise below middle-class income levels, and more than 14 per cent of white families below the $3,000 family income mark.

Among whites, the percentages in these categories are much lower, but the numbers are high. Some 3,750,000 Negro families fall short of middle class. So do about 18,250,000 white families. Perhaps 6.5 million white families classify as very poor.

Furthermore, with all the racial ferment in U. S. cities, the notion has taken hold that core-city slums today are almost totally occupied by impoverished Negroes. Housing studies show, however, that of 9 million U.S. households living in squalor, some 6 million are white. The Negro total is 2.3 million, with Puerto Ricans and Mexicans accouting for the rest.

Charges that Negroes are slipping farther and farther behind in the income race with whites do not seem to be supported by government income figures.

In 1947 the U.S. Negro family was earning 51 per cent as much as the typical white family. A decade and a half later, the percentage had risen to 53 per cent. That is not much "catching up," but neither is it slipping back.

Income gains for Negro women workers account for the modest advance, since male Negro workers have held steady at around 55 to 57 per cent of white male workers' income.

What holds the Negros' income down is the sharp pay differential between Negro and white workers doing the same jobs. Moreover, the proportionately older white population has many more people in their middle-range peak earning years than does the young Negro population.

And, of course, the far higher Negro unemployment rate, especially among teen-agers, severely aggravates this situation.

Catching up obviously depends partly on finding millions more jobs for Negroes and partly on their elevation into more skilled and professional jobs — at pay levels commensurate with whites.

Nevertheless, median family income for all Americans, white and Negro, rose roughly 45 per cent from 1947 to 1963 and is still climbing. The Negroes' substantial share in this advance explains why more and more of them continue, slowly but surely, to move into the American middle class. They are far from income parity with whites, but they are on a persistently rising income curve.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

My readers keep me well supplied with interesting information. In the Aug. 14, 1966 Sunday New York Coloroto Magazine News there is a double spread of the "Nation's Oldest City". St. Augustine, Florida which will be 401 years old on Sept. 8, 1966. They write that for the past year, thousands have visited this old town to help celebrate its fourth centennial birthday. They have 20-million dollar restoration program to regain the city's Old World atmosphere. Kingston is still on the map after some 300 years, although in the midst of great changes in the year 1966 to remember for the bulldozers have already visited here, like locusts.

Spain occupied St. Augustine until 1763 when it was ceded to England. After 20 years of British rule, the city was ceded back to Spain. The United States acquired it only in 1821. Today, St. Augustine is a little town of only 15,000 which depends on year round tourist trade for three-quarters of its income.

It is said the "oldest schoolhouse in the United States is supported by chains to prevent the entire wooden structure from collapsing." A picture of it is in this Sunday News of Aug. 14. We have an interesting structure in Kingston, N. Y. on the east side of Converse Street, or Frog Alley, as some call it. It is the Gertrey Bogardus House. Vandals tried to destroy it several times but still the stone structure remains, and seems to have had many rooms, perhaps it could be restored somehow, certainly St. Augustine would have attempted to preserve it, but I doubt the powers that be here will try to save it. In St. Augustine they show the "city's oldest house built around the 1600's. Little of the original house remains except archeological fragments and documents."

I sent for circulars to the Seashore Trolley Museum at Kennebunkport, Me. They sent me colorful large pictures and postal cards of several of the 80 trolley cars in the museum. Both open and closed cars operate all summer at this most interesting museum, the like of which we might have had, at Kingston Point Park. My correspondent feels they have no cars built by Peckham Car works of Kingston, "but two of their cars do have Peckham running gear under them. One of these cars is No. 396 of Boston," a postcard of which he enclosed. This is the car,which was used in making the movie "The Cardinal" a few years ago. The post card was made two years ago. The Peckham trucks under the car show very clearly. The man driving it is retired from the St. Ry. in Boston, William S. Kehoe, father of Paul E. Kehoe who wrote to me. This car is completely restored inside as well as outside. The author of the book, The Cardinal, was the late Henry Morton Robinson, who lived in Woodstock, Ulster County.

I have several negative photostats of Peckham Car Works trucks, trucks, which is the chassis, wheels and power unit which was sold all over the states and other countries. Electrol Inc. and other companies were in those buildings later. Pictures I have are about 15 by [illegible] inches, some closed and open trolley cars, of such lines as [illegible]y Island and Brooklyn, open 12 bench. Have Baltimore City passenger R.R. Co. open, 10 bench car, showing the "cow catcher". One Terre Haute, Ind. trolley car shows an 18 foot closed car, hauling five loaded trailer cars, chassis for which were made right here in Kingston. Anyone visiting any trolley car museum and especially Kennebunkport, Me. please look down at the bottom, for the Peckham Car Works, Kingston, N. Y. markings and let me know about it so I can tell other readers.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Perhaps the Republicans should begin to study the dividends they may get from the political maneuvering of Senator Robert F. Kennedy as he boldly and aggressively seeks to attain a controlling voice inside the Democratic party throughout the country. He wants to be president, of course, but whether he would try for the vice presidency in 1968 and the presidency in 1972 depends on his build-up in the meantime.

The Democratic senator successfully wielded his political influence inside the city of New York and throughout the Empire State, even though just a few years ago he was a resident of Massachusetts. He knows a good deal about machine politics and bosses and will have a lot to say behind the scenes as to who is nominated for governor at the next Democratic state convention to run against Governor Rockefeller, Republican.

The senator isn't confining himself, mowever, to New York State. He has entered the national arena. Nationwide publicity has just been bestowed on the senator as the Gallup Poll gave him this summer a higher percentage in popularity than President Johnson got among Democrats and independents. This is doubtless due to the fact that the senator hasn't had the responsibility of making the painful decisions on Viet Nam, inflation, labor-management relations, civil rights and the other topics that have caused considerable controversy among the voters. But there's another possible reason—the aura that has enveloped the Kennedy name. This is an asset of undetermined amount, but it could affect a public-opinion poll at this time.

This doesn't mean that Mr. Kennedy is necessarily planning to make a contest against Mr. Johnson in 1968. Rather, it is likely that the senator's campaign managers will pit him then against Hubert Humphrey for the vice-presidential nomination.

If Mr. Johnson's political fortunes are on the downward side in the summer of 1968, a strong movement could develop in favor of abandoning Mr. Humphrey for Senator Kennedy. This would be bitter medicine for Mr. Johnson. Already speculative voices are saying that, as a practical matter, it might not prove to be a bad idea.

Thus, Senator Kennedy, it will be argued, might bring to the Johnson ticket some of the same strength his brother had. It has not been forgotten in the inner circles of national politics that "Bobby" Kennedy as far back as the 1956 national Democratic convention in Chicago made out a case for his brother as a vice-presidential choice by circulating a comprehensive memorandum about the Catholic vote. He showed that much of it would shift from the Republican to the Democratic side and, indeed Gallup Polls revealed that in the 1960 election 78 per cent of the Catholic voters in America supported John F. Kennedy, who won by a narrow margin against Vice President Nixon.

It isn't altogether certain, of course, that President Johnson will actually be in such a desperate condition politically that he will have to snub the man he really wants — Vice President Humphrey—and accept Senator Kennedy in order to win in the 1968 election. Oddly enough, it was a reluctant John F. Kennedy who in 1960 vetoed the objections of his brother "Bobby" and chose Lyndon Johnson for the vice-president nomination primarily to get the backing of the south, where it was feared that anti-Catholic sentiment might otherwise be asserted in a substantial way.

"Bobby" Kennedy has everything to gain and nothing to lose by campaigning this summer and autumn, as he is doing in many states, to try to help 100 candidates for various offices. By going around the country and identifying himself with the local organizations, the New York senator increases his influence as a national figure inside the Democratic party. He managed his brother's campaign for the presidency in 1960.

Does all this mean that the Democrats may become so divided in 1968 or even in 1972 that the Republicans, besides benefitting by discontent over national issues, will also reap political profits from the factional fights that may emerge as a result of the aggressive quest of the presidency by another Kennedy?

Electrocution Is Given Credit For Saving Life

By KEITH GEORGE
Binghamton Press

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)— John Kuelling, a husky man for his 71 years, calmly made small talk with the nurses as they attached wires leading from an electrocardiograph machine to his body.

He was about to receive several thousand volts of electricity through the heart. The powerful shock would pass through his body in a tiny fraction of a second.

Attendants at General Hospital moved away from his bed as the preparations were completed.

The shock was fired. Kuelling's arms jumped convulsively about six inches.

Another shock passed through the patient's heart. Then a third, more powerful shock was transmitted and the treatment was over.

Kuelling was awakened and told his heart was beating normally.

Before the treatment, known as a heart conversion, the upper chambers of his heart had been beating erratically—up to 500 or 600 beats every minute. The erratic beating allowed blood to pool and clot in the heart.

The electricity stopped Kuelling's heart temporarily. When it resumed, the heartbeat was normal. Two days later, he went home.

Kuelling had been sent to the hospital several weeks earlier with what was described as recurrent pneumonia. Doctors found the abnormal heartbeat and decided to use the heart conversion machine.

Before the treatment, Kuelling was given blood - thinning medicine for about a week to rid the heart of clots.

The hospital has had the machine for about 18 months, and has used it on more than 100 patients. Dr. Jason K. Moyer, the medical director, said it has been successful in 35 to 40 per cent of the emergency cases originating in the hospital.

Kuelling was not an emergency case. Had the irregular beats been in the lower chambers of the heart—the ventricles, doctors said his chance for survival would have been greatly restricted.

The machine's major life-saving work has been in cases where treatment was applied immediately after ventricular defibrilation — wild, rapid beating—was detected by the hospital's monitoring equipment.

The cardioverter machine is kept ready for instant use in a four-bed coronary care unit and can be rushed to other sections of the hospital. In the special care unit, equipment attached to the patient signals an alarm if an abnormal heartbeat develops.

When a call goes out over the hospital loudspeakers, a specially trained team rushes the "crash cart" containing the machine and its related equipment where it is needed.

TV News

Special Tonight On Crime in U. S.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The life of a catch phrase, whether it is the long departed "Wanna buy a duck?" or the contemporary "Holy wonder boy!" is mercifully short.

Two of them, which swept the country on a television tide, should be about in their final stages now, worn out from over use. But at this moment, it is hard to have a gas tank filled without the attendant asking, "Would you believe 10 gallons?" or to witness a minor mishap, like a sloshed cup of coffee, without the spiller exclaiming "Sorry about that."

Nothing delights an advertiser more than having his commercials became the subject of comment. And nothing pleases a television producer or star more than when his show's trademark is caught up by the public.

Last season, NBC's "Get Smart" kicked off both of these now trite lines, usually delivered in an attempted imitation of star Don Adams' clipped nasal twang.

The show's writers have two fresh Smart-isms warming up: "I hope I'm not out of line," and, "Missed it by that much." Neither looks irresistible in cold print, but nobody can predict what odd phrase will be given a whirl by the public.

The secret agent spoof was such a hit that nobody concerned is interested in fooling around with the show's format in its second season.

It will continue to abound with communications gimmicks, a new one being a telephone disguised as a burning log in a fireplace, plus the usual radios in rings, TV sets in brief cases and poison-gas compacts.

The departure of Andy Griffith from TV to films — falsely rumoured as often as Danny Thomas' retirement from weekly series — has been postponed at least beyond the 1967-68 season. He has signed a new CBS contract.

NBC pre-empts all of its reruns tonight between 7:30 and 11 EDT for a massive "white paper" on organized crime in the United States. It covers everything from loan sharks to gambling, prostitution to narcotics traffic and was months in the making.

Camp Girls Aid Hospital Staff In Ellenville

When the national spotlight paused momentarily on a group of youngsters from Ellenville's Camp Westmont, at the hospital dedication ceremoni - last week, it also focused attention on a group of campers who have been serving Ellenvil' Community Hospital all summer.

According to Mrs. Vincent Gillen, hospital auxiliary chairman of volunteers, 21 girls from Camp Westmont have participated in the hospital service program, working as receptionists, messengers and in other phases of the volunteer program. The girls who have taken part are: Laurie Thurschwell, New York City; Robin Brinn, Westbury, L. I.; Dale Stark, Brooklyn; Marcia Gams, Forest Hills; Ilana Pfifferling, the Bronx; Ilene Gross, Brooklyn; Sheila Lowenstein, Valley Stream; Judy Dressner, Queens; Andrea Koweek, Merrick, L. I., Francine Cohen, Brooklyn; Marcia Kaplan, Valley Stream; Mona Geller, Brooklyn; Maureen Schulman, Queens; Debbie Krane, Roslyn, L. I., Sandra Leroy, New Hyde Park; Wendy Scheler, Queens; Susan Brust, Forest Hills, L. I.; Phyllis Edelman, Brooklyn; Marilyn Pine, Brooklyn; Elyse Rokaw, Queens and Patt Hovatter, Brooklyn.

The volunteer participation in the hospital program was arranged by Mrs. Ann Beier, co-director of Camp Westmont. Mrs. Beier has worked with children in various capacities for many years.

Prior to the completion of Ellenville Community Hospital, Camp Westmont youngsters participated in the volunteer program at Monticello Hospital.

Mrs. Gillen noted that the girls had served at the hospital four afternoons a week and that they had been a valuable addition to the auxiliary volunteer corps. "We believe that it has been a mutually rewarding experience—as volunteer work always is," she noted. "We are appreciative of the girls' efforts and of the constructive attitude of Camp Westmont toward the community hospital."

Agree on Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate conferees have agreed on a compromise $1-billion military construction bill that includes restrictions on the closing of military bases.

The House had approved a $1,065,973,000 authorization, while the Senate had voted a $975,671,000 figure. There were reports that the conference agreed to split the difference.

A House proposal was retained prohibiting the Defense Department from closing a base until 30 days after a continuous session of Congress and following a full report by the secretary of defense to Congress.

U. N. Afros Hope To Avoid Same Ruling by Court

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Africans in the United Nations are working to remold the International Court of Justice in the Hague so it won't rule against them again as it did in the South-West Africa case.

The court ruled July 18, in cases brought for the African countries generally, that Ethiopia and Liberia had no legal right to claim judgment that South Africa had violated its League of Nations mandate over South-West Africa by introducing racial segregation there.

Hope to Prevent Election

So the African group of 36 U.N. delegations, in the General Assembly convening Sept. 20, will aim to prevent election of unsympathetic judges to five pending vacancies on the present 15-judge court and to enlarge the court by U.N. Charter amendment so that Africa and Asia will have more representation on it.

The big Western powers can stop any such amendment if they do not mind antagonizing the Africans — and they may choose not to.

No charter amendment can take effect without a two-thirds vote in the assembly and ratification by two-thirds of the 117 U.N. members including all five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China and the Soviet Union.

But nothing seems likely to keep the Africans from electing sympathetic judges to the court and barring the election of unsympathetic ones.

Electing a judge takes simple majorities in the assembly and the council.

With the Asian-African group of 61 countries, the Africans are sure of more than a majority in the assembly. In the council, they can probably get a majority from among the three African, two Asian, two Latin-American and two Communist members, not to mention others.

Spell Out Objectives

Their objectives are spelled out in a report of the African group privately circulated this week to Asian-African representatives. The report was delivered orally at a private meeting Aug. 11 by Ambassador Endalkachew Makonnen of Ethiopia, acting for the African group.

He said the judgment on South-West Africa served as "a timely warning" and showed the judges could no longer be regarded as "wise and disinterested men fully dedicated to the cause of international justice and unaffected by the impact of power politics."

"We feel, in short, that we should seek an amendment to increase the number of judges from the present 15 in order to make it possible thereby to obtain more representation for both Africa and Asia," he said.

"We should use the collective power of our vote to prevent the election of judges that are likely to be prejudicial to the African cause."

New Haven Mayor Says Cities Must Attack Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Richard C. Lee of New Haven, Conn., said today American cities, with federal help, must attack now the problems of housing, education and employment—and the cost cannot be forecast.

"There can be no one priority because the problems of the city are complex and intertwined," Lee said in testimony prepared for an investigating Senate subcommittee. "We must attack all these problems, and neglect none."

The subcommittee is looking into city problems and the federal role in urban affairs.

"Don't ask me to put a price tag on my suggestions," Lee said. "It is impossible. It is also impossible to gauge the efforts we will have to expend. But I do know it must be done."

Lee said the great bulk of the revenues raised by state and federal governments come from the concentrations of people, wealth and industry in the cities.

"The highest proportion possible should go back to the cities," he said. "The entire nation must demonstrate with action and a firm commitment that we can make our cities showplaces of democracy, and decent, vital, exciting places in which to live, work and raise our families."

OUTLIVES INSURANCE POLICY—Thomas Shay, 96, of New Paltz Road, Highland, accepts a check for $1,062.05 from Joseph E. Stone, manager of Mutual of New York's Poughkeepsie agency, at the Shay home recently. Shay took the policy out in 1925 when the life expectancy was a maximum of 96. Shay reached that age recently and had a choice of collecting on the face value of the policy or leaving it with the company. Shay collected.

Highland Man, 96, Collects On Own Policy

Thomas Shay, New Paltz Road, Highland, has beaten odds of 100,000 to 14 and has become, at insurance age 96, the beneficiary of his own life insurance policy.

Bought in Early 1900's

When Shay purchased his policy from Mutual of New York in the early 1900's, actuarial tables, which measure life expectancy at all ages, ended at age 96. Only 14 out of 100,000 people were then expected to live that long. Those policyholders who reach age 96 have the option of collecting the cash value of their MONY policies or of leaving the amount with the company to earn interest.

Shay chose the first option and a special ceremony was arranged at his residence on Friday, August 12, the anniversary date of his policy. Joseph E. Stone, manager of MONY'S Poughkeepsie agency, presented Shay with a check for $1,062.05, representing the face amount of his policy plus accumulated dividends.

The nonagenarian, whose wife is no longer living, has three children and two grandchildren. Son, John, resides in Clintondale and is retired from the highway department of the Town of Lloyd. Thomas, Jr., is Supervisor of the Town of Lloyd. The elder Shay's only daughter is now Mrs. James Crotty of Monroe.

Mrs. David Russo, the first grandchild, was a school teacher in Wappingers Falls but now resides in Mt. Rainier, Md. The second grandchild, Kathleen Shay of Highland, is a teacher in the Wappingers Falls school district.

Still active in community affairs, Shay is a member of the Kinghts of Columbus, the Grange and several Farm Bureau Associations.

In comparing today's world with the past, the 96-year-old reminisced about the changing value of the dollar.

Hard Work His Secret

"I remember working for 25 cents a day," he said, "a total of $1.25 a week...and I counted the money all the way home." Later, when Shay married, he earned $30 per month plus half a house but he only worked eight months a year.

"You can't buy very much for a dollar today," Shay continued, "but we now have modern conveniences."

Payroll Savings Bond Program Shows Increase

The U. S. Savings Bond Payroll program showed a sharp upsurge in New York State during the first seven months of 1966, with 116,071 new savers signed up compared with 43,177 during the same period last year, it was reported today by James F. Oates Jr., volunteer chairman of the New York State Industrial Payroll Savings Committee.

Oates, chairman of the Board of The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U. S., said that as part of a nationwide effort more than 600 major companies in New York State have been asked to conduct payroll savings drives among their approximately four million employes. The New York goal is 140,000 new payroll savers, and it is now likely that this figure will be surpassed handily.

Total sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in New York State rose to $325 million for the 7-month period January through July of this year. Nationally, the public holdings of Savings Bonds during this same period exceeded $2.9 billion.

Oates termed the fine response by New Yorkers in singing up for payroll savings especially at this time because it materially assists in acting as a brake against inflation.

A number of large companies already have completed successful 1966 campaigns to enroll new savers. Among them were New York Telephone with 41,152 new enrollments; RCA, 16,287; Pan American World Airways, 6,056, and The Great A & P Tea Co., 3,497.

Plan to Publish Tribune Fails; Name Withheld

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Tassler, who said he had hoped to form a corporation to publish a morning newspaper here, announced Wednesday night that the plan was dead because the name of the defunct Herald Tribune could not be bought for the new enterprise.

Tassler said the World Journal Tribune Inc. rejected an offer of $75,000 for use of the name.

Speaking in behalf of the corporation he hoped to form, Tassler said:

"We felt that the distinguished name 'Herald Tribune' was one that should not die and that the name was a great asset. We are not interested in publishing a 'New York Express' or 'New York Bulletin.' The project therefore is now dead."

Tassler said that Matt Meyer, president of the World Journal Tribune Inc., noted in turning down the offer that the new daily and Sunday newspaper his corporation plans, will be called the World Journal Tribune.

Tassler said Meyer wrote:

"Thus it would be confusing to say the least for another newspaper to be published with any part of that name in its masthead.

"However, we see no reason why the unavailability to you of our name should discourage you from your plans to publish a morning newspaper in New York City if you believe it otherwise possible to do so."

Meyer announced Aug. 15 that plans to publish the Herald Tribune as a weekday morning newspaper had been dropped. The corporation — formed in the merger of three newspapers — now plans to publish a weekday afternoon paper and a Sunday paper.

The new papers were to have started April 25, but difficulties with unions are still holding up publication.

Vital Purge Results Loom

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

"Dare to organize the masses," said a Chinese Communist party directive issued several weeks ago. Now the "masses" are organized and in full cry, and those who dared are becoming the masters of what begins to look like a Fascist China.

Glorying in Mass Cruelty

Indoctrinated teen-agers, glorying in a license for mass cruelty, are potent weapons in the hands of a dictator. Today they roam the streets of Chinese cities, inflicting outlandish humiliations on random victims who have suddenly become "enemies of the people."

Evidently the stage is being set for a climactic act of the purge the party calls "the great proletarian cultural revolution," and evidently some men in high—perhaps very high—places are about to fall. Those who have "the masses" in their hands also have the nation—at least for now. They will be tough. Ominously, the theoretical journal Red Flag announced this week:

"Any person, no matter how high his position, how old his standing and how great his fame, as long as he fails to do things according to Mao Tze-tung's thinking should have his erroneous views boycotted and a determined struggle should be waged against him until he is dismissed from his official posts."

The impression left by the spectacle going on in Red China is that within a short time Peking will make known to the world the more important results of the purge. Whatever opposition existed to the current line of policy is being remorselessly crushed under the mass attack of the mobs of youngsters.

What is relatively certain already is that China has a military dictator masquerading as a proletarian. Defense Minister Lin Piao, a marshal when the army had ranks, is the emerging boss, and the great proletarian cultural revolution seems designed to establish the line of succession after the ailing Mao Tze-tung.

With his opponents swept into oblivion, Lin appears to be using the armed forces to nail down his authority. His newspaper, Liberation Army Daily, makes much of the news that Mao wore a uniform in his latest public appearance, standing "side by side with his closest comrade in arms, Comrade Lin Piao."

It will go hard with those who tried to stop the Lin charge. Their sin, nicely prefabricated, was "losing touch with the masses." The winners got to the masses first.

New Faces to Appear

Rampaging teen-age students on a wild witch hunt have both the sanction and inspiration of those now in control. Did not Mao wear the red armband of the young Red guards in his latest appearance?

When the dust clears, probably a half-dozen new faces will appear on the Politburo, which holds total power over the nation. Prominent names will be missing and other prominent men—probably including President Liu Shao-chi—will be downgraded.

Few, pondering the spectacle, would doubt Peking's words that the revolution "has reached a new stage." This stage appears to be one which brings China the prospect of total regimentation, total subservience to the state, total conformity to the notions of those who run the party, ad, in the bargain, total isolation from the outside world.

Price Increases Adds Urgency to GE Catch-up Pay

NEW YORK (AP) — A top negotiator for the largest union of General Electric Co. (GE) employes says the U.S. Labor Department's report of continued consumer price increases during July has added urgency to the pay "catch-up" demand in union negotiations.

The statement was made Wednesday by John H. Callahan, chairman of the GE locals conference board of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE).

Talks Simultaneously

GE is holding simultaneous negotiations with the IUE and the independent United Electrical Workers (UE).

The "catch-up" demand, made by both unions, is for an immediate additional payment of 24 cents an hour that the IUE and UE says is needed to recoup losses resulting from the discontinuance in 1960 of a cost-of-living adjustment clause in the contracts. Both unions also are seeking to have the clause restored in new contracts.

Both unions have made numerous demands on GE, many of them very similar.

The IUE represents 79,400 workers and the UE 12,500 workers in GE plants in a number of states. They are the largest of the 100-odd unions of GE employes.

After the overnight recess of the twin negotiations Wednesday a spokesman for the company said it still was unable to put a price tag on the economic demands because negotiators for both unions had declined to specify the amounts they seek.

The spokesman said the company concluded that the unions might remain silent on specific amounts until the company made a money offer.

Current contracts expire at midnight Oct. 2.

Not Ignored by Democrats

Reviews Renewed Political Activity of Richard Nixon

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, out of office almost six years and declining to say whether he has presidential ambitions for 1968, has made an almost incredible number of speeches and statements in 1966.

In the course of them the former vice president probably has given President Johnson more unsolicited advice than any public figure on how to win the war in Viet Nam.

Tries Prophecy

This week he tried his hand at prophecy — or mind-reading — about Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Both men reacted caustically.

Nixon says his only object in speechmaking is to campaign for Republicans seeking election this year. But, since all this keeps him high in the Republican consciousness if he wants another try at the presidency two years from now, what are his thoughts about that?

"I am not going to speculate on 1968," he says.

He seemed politically dead for a while, after he lost the 1960 presidential race and his try for the governorship of California in 1962, but he didn't stay mute long.

In Full Bloom

By the summer of 1963 he was back in full bloom explaining:

"As the last (Republican) presidential candidate, my role now is to try to guide the thoughts of the Republican party. I will make some speeches and do some writing."

It might have seemed the next losing Republican presidential candidate — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in 1964 — would automatically become the party "guide," replacing Nixon who had first criticized him and then campaigned for him.

But Goldwater became practically speechless after his defeat. Nixon moved into this vacuum and ever since has done more to stay in the public eye than any Republican around.

Nixon's speeches and statements range from Viet Nam to inflation. He has advice for Republicans on what their attitude on Viet Nam should be.

While he approves Johnson's goals in the Vietnamese war, he criticizes Johnson's way of trying to reach those goals, then advises him how to do it.

He keeps pumping up Republican hopes for this fall's congressional elections, although he is not always consistent. Most of the time he says they will win 40 House seats but he also has said they will win only 30.

At the end of 1965 he was saying the Republicans were badly split. Now he says the Democrats are split, and not only over the war.

In May he said Johnson and Kennedy were locked in a struggle for control of the Democratic party. In July he was saying the Democrats are divided into two parties: one headed by Kennedy, the other by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

But this week he said Kennedy didn't have a chance to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from Johnson in 1968 although suggesting Johnson might want Kennedy as his running mate rather than Humphrey.

Kennedy told reporters: "I've never observed that Mr. Nixon's advice was very helpful to the Republicans."

Johnson said his view of Humphrey's performance would not be guided by "either the wishes or desires or the predictions of an ex-vice president."

Milk Shortage

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Officials of a dairy cooperative say a continuing decline in milk production rapidly is making milk unavailable for any use but fluid needs.

The directors of Northeast Dairy Cooperative Federation Inc. said Wednesday milk production in the New York-New Jersey milkshed was down as the result of poor weather and a decrease in the number of dairy farmers.

How serious the situation becomes will depend, they said, on "the decrease in the number of farmers and cows during the next few months."

July milk production in the milkshed was reported down 43,924,888 pounds from July 1965, a drop of 4.6 per cent.

Charge Man, 52 In Fatal Shooting Of Upstate Boy

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—A 52 - year - old man, who often had complained about youngsters causing disturbances, faces a first - degree murder charge in the shooting of a 13-year-old boy.

Edward Bielawski of the suburban Town of Rotterdam pleaded innocent Wednesday at his arraignment before Justice Leland S. Thomas of Rotterdam in the death of James P. Sarris.

Sarris died Wednesday in St. Clare's Hospital here of a gunshot wound suffered about two hours earlier during what police said was a disturbance at Bielawski's home.

Police said the boy was inside the house when he was shot in the back with a high-powered rifle.

Sarris was one of eight children, police said, an his brother, Danny, 12, was with him at the time of the shooting.

Neighbors said Bielawski complained frequently about unruly children.

Bielawski, who lived alone, was ordered held in Schenectady County Jail. Thomas set additional court proceedings for next week.

In Prison Quarter of Century

Soviet Union Holds Key To Rudolph Hess Future

BERLIN (AP) — Each day, Rudolf Hess knows he is 24 hours closer to the end of September and the day when he may become the sole inmate of the cavernous Spandau war crimes prison.

If he is not freed or moved, he will be the last Nazi held captive in the 19th century military prison built for 600 men.

Has Become Old Man

At 72, Hess no longer is the darkly handsome deputy fuehrer to Adolf Hitler who strutted with the Nazis to the pinnacle of power in Germany in the 1930s. He has become an old man with 25 years imprisonment behind him, dating from the day he made his startling 1941 flight to wartime Great Britain on a self-styled "mission of humanity."

Convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment by the 1946 Nuernberg war crimes tribunal, Hess has been in Spandau 20 years. He shares the prison on West Berlin's outskirts with two of the other seven top Nazis originally sent to Spandau. They are former Hitler youth leader Baldur von Schirach, 59, and wartime production minister Albert Speer, 61.

At midnight Sept. 30, Von Schirach and Speer will walk out of Spandau free men, their 20-year sentences served.

Hess has refused to see his wife and son all the years he has been in Spandau. He does not want them to see him as a prison inmate.

The key to whether he will remain a man jailed in Spandau, whether he will be freed, or whether he will be moved to a less costly prison apparently lies with the Soviet Union. It costs about $60,000 a year to keep Spandau going.

Soviet Reaction Doubtful

The United States, Britain and France may be willing to help Hess. But the Soviet reaction is doubtful. Any decision on Hess's future must be unanimous.

About 40 soldiers from each of the four nations rotate monthly to guard it.

Soviet interest in keeping Spandau going and Hess in jail is seen by some quarters this way:

They wanted Hess executed at Nuernberg. After great wartime suffering, the Russians are unlikely to forgive and forget in the case of a man who was a top Hitler aide.

One authoritative source gave this description of Hess today:

"Hess gives the appearance of being listless as he has for years, and is essentially a loner, although of late he has talked often with both Von Schirach, with whom he once had differences, and with Speer. The two younger men go out of their way to help Hess, for example, making his bed or helping to clean his cell when he does not feel weel.

"There have been times when he lay moaning in his cell, due to real or imagined stomach troubles, but that has eased.

"He is about 6 feet tall, but stooped, weighs about 160 pounds, still has the dark bushy eyebrows and the deep-set, piercing blue eyes that were perhaps his best known physical characteristics. His teeth protrude slightly. His hair is iron gray. Like Von Schirach and Speer, he speaks English, but not as well as the other two. Unlike the other two, who are eager to speak it, Hess will not speak it at all.

"He has been in prison a long time — a quarter century — and he has grown to be an old man. Both prison and age have left their mark, physically and mentally, as they would on any man. It would be difficult to describe Hess as mentally ill as such, although he always has been peculiar, often evasive."

Hess's main prison occupations are reading, "but only heavy stuff, no fiction, astrology, in which he always was interested, even the encyclopedia, and walking without a halt the 90 minutes each day he is let out into the prison garden."

The source added that Hess "completely avoids politics" although like the others he is allowed to receive censored mail and is given censored newspapers. He may write one censored letter a week and writes his family regularly.

"It is very difficult," the source said, "to get Hess to talk about anything except the weather, his food and conditions at the prison."

The youngest of the seven top Nazis sent to Spandau, Von Schirach wears No. 1 stamped on both knees and the back of his brown corduroy prison uniform. Speer is No. 5, Hess No. 7.

Klaus von Schirach, the eldest of four sons of the elder Von Schirach, and his now divorced wife know of no plans his father has made for freedom.

Speer is expected to resume his career as an architect. He has tried to keep abreast of the field while in prison. His son, Albert Jr., is a well-known figure in the profession in which his father had gained a reputation before becoming a top Nazi.

Shaggy Dog Story

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When Jim Stockton found a lost dog he decided to find its owner.

Reading an inoculation tag on the dog's collar, he called a veterinarian in Los Angeles. The vet told Stockton the dog's owner had moved to Bethpage, N.Y. When he called there, Stockton was told the owners had moved to Plainview, N.Y.

He called Plainview but the owner, J. F. Brennan, had moved again.

Sign $45,000 Pact For Dannemora's Rehab Program

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that a $45,000 contract has been signed between the New York State Department of Correction and McGill University of Montreal for the initial phases of a pioneering rehabilitation program at Dannemora, designed to include treatment, evaluation and study of mentally disordered inmates in the State's correctional institutions.

The Governor said that this new psychiatric and diagnostic clinic will provide — intensive therapy for inmates of State correction facilities who, though not mentally ill, have serious mental disorders;

— intensive diagnostic evaluation of inmates for pre-parole purposes; and — scientific study to establish adequate standards for sentencing of defendants with serious mental disorders.

"This program, recommended by the Governor's Special Committee on Criminal Offenders, is an important contribution to the reduction of the number of criminal repeaters," Gov. Rockefeller said.

"An important feature of the new clinic," Rockefeller said, "is that it is to be run in cooperation with McGill University located in nearby Montreal. McGill has prepared the plan for an "ideal" treatment center; will participate with the State and with other universities in furnishing the treatment; has designed the research project; and will have general responsibility for the research. McGill's participation is to be under the direction of Bruno M. Cormier, director of the McGill Clinic of Forensic Psychiatry.

Gov. Rockefeller said Dannemora was chosen as the site of the clinic because the wholesale transfer of inmates from the Dannemora State Hospital to civil hospitals as a result of a recent court decision has left the Hospital with a large excess capacity. This not only means available space but also available psychiatric, psychological and therapeutic support. Although the new clinic is to be physically located in wards of the Dannemora State Hospital, the Governor stressed it will not be administered as part of the Hospital.

Gov. Rockefeller said that the initial group of inmates will be limited to approximately 50 to 60 persons. The present planning for this group is to bring in 25 inmates on or about Oct. 1, and an additional 30 inmates on or about Oct. 15.

While working with the initial group, the staff of the clinic will be planning for a second group of approximately the same size. The Governor said the second group is expected to start in January 1967.

Ultimately, the clinic should be able to treat approximately 200-600 persons, the Governor added.

He Tossed Away His Wealth

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The late Hal Sims once told a budding bridge player that he played like a millionaire. The player was flattered, but he shouldn't have been. Sims meant that he indulged in too many luxuries at the table.

South won the club lead in dummy and made the millionaire's play of the ace of trumps. It is nice to pull trumps, but sometimes it is a luxury that ordinary mortals can't afford.

He put in a lot of time studying the hand from then on but it was all to no avail. The combination of bad breaks in the black suits plus the ace of hearts in the West hand was too much for him.

If South had been provident he would have had little trouble making his contract. At trick two he would have led a low club from dummy and ruffed with his queen of trumps just in case there might be a 5-1 club split.

When West followed, South would play king and another trump, overtaking in dummy. Then he would ruff another club; enter dummy with the last trump and discard all his hearts on the last three clubs and wind up with all the tricks.

There is an interesting feature of today's bidding. It is North's imediate raise to three spades. Most players would prefer to rebid the six card club suit but North felt that it was more important to show spade support immediately.

It didn't make much difference this time. We expect that six spades would have been reached anyway but in general we do approve of that immediate raise in preference to the club rebid.

Mark National Park Service's 50th Anniversary

This year, on August 25, the National Park Service, a bureau within the U. S. Department of the Interior, is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Superintendent Benjamin H. Davis of Roosevelt-Vanderbilt National Historic Sites, Hyde Park, announced that the National Park Service was created by Act of Congress on August 25, 1916. The then new agency was charged with the adminisstration and protcetion of various parks and sites of national significance throughout the country for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations.

Follow Example

Forty-eight years before, in 1872, Yellowstone National Park had been established by Congress as the world's first National Park. Other countries soon followed this example. Between 1872 and 1916 many areas with superlative scenery and areas of profound significance in our nation's history were set aside for the people of the United States. More recently, historical and natural areas were joined by recreational areas, including seashores.

Today, the National Park System consists of 231 diverse areas, including 32 National Parks, 143 historical areas, six national seashores and several national recreation areas. These areas are scattered within the geographic area bounded by Acadia National Park in Maine, to Virgin Islands National Park in the Caribbean, to Hawaii Volcanoes National Park in Hawaii, to Mount McKinley National Park in Alaska. Some of the other sites are: Yosemite National Park, Calif.; Scotts Bluff National Monument, Neb.; Jefferson National Expansion Memorial National Historic Site, Mo.; National Capital Parks, Wash., D. C.; Antietam National Battlefield Site and Cemetery, Md.; and Cape Cod National Seashore, Mass.

Units in New York

Nearby National Park Service units in New York State are: The New York City Group (Statue of Liberty, Castle Clinton, Federal Hall, Sagamore Hill, etc.) and Saratoga National Historical Park, Stillwater (Revolutionary War Battlefield). Neighboring units, located in Hyde Park are Vanderbilt Mansion National Historic Site designated on December 18, 1940 and the Home of Franklin D. Roosevelt National Historic Site established on January 15, 1944.

Davis announced that the Roosevelt Home and the Vanderbilt Mansion and Vanderbilt Visitor Center will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. through Labor Day. An admission fee will permit entrance into both the Roosevelt Home and Vanderbilt Mansion. There is no charge for other facilities. He has extended an invitation to everyone to visit the sites this year and join the millions of Americans who are visiting the various National Park Service areas throughout the country to help celebrate our Golden Anniversary.

World News In Brief

'War, Peace' Tops

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Films from Italy, France and the United States were the favorites of the 3 million moviegoers in Communist Hungary, the Hungarian Film History Institute reported Wednesday.

The results of a poll by the institute showed that the U.S. film "War and Peace" was the favorite for the eighth year running.

Soviets Balking

TOKYO (AP) — A government spokesman said today the forthcoming four-nation whaling conference may face rough sailing because there is no sign the Soviet Union is willing to compromise.

If the Soviets do cooperate, the conference opening Aug. 31 could end in one day, an official of the fisheries agency added. Japan, Norway and the Soviet Union — the three whaling nations — plus Britain, are scheduled to meet for about a week to divide among them the 3,500 blue whale unit catch quota set at the International Whaling Commission's meeting in London in June.

No Tremors Wednesday

ERZURUM, Turkey (AP) — For the first time in almost a week, there were no earth tremors reported Wednesday in quake-hit eastern Turkey.

A killer earthquake struck the region last Friday and took some 2,400 lives.

LONDON (AP) — The Anglo-Texan Society today announced that Lord Caccia has agreed to be president of the society.

Lord Caccia will replace the late Lord Bossom as president of the group of Englishmen who like Texas and Texans so much that years ago they formed the Anglo-Texan Society.

Perrine's Bridge
Rifton, N. Y.
August 23rd, 1966

Editor, The Freeman

Thank you for publishing my letter to your editor relative to the preservation of Perrine's Bridge. I have received many comments on the contents of the article and I was pleasantly surprised to learn that there are many other individuals interested in the preservation of the structure.

Evidently, the combined actions of all, are beginning to bear fruit inasmuch as on Monday, August 22nd, there appeared in your newspaper an article stating that our Assemblyman, Kenneth Wilson, regardless of his busy schedule, will do everything possible to preserve Perrine's Bridge.

I am conecrned that the restoration of the span hinges on the passage of Proposition One in November. I was in hopes that some immediate action could be taken for I fear the rigors of another Winter on the structure in its present condition.

At any rate I am heartened that our pleas have been recognized and I should like to extend my thanks to both the Kingston Freeman and Assemblyman Wilson for their splendid cooperation.

Respectfully,
JOHN GRADY

O'Connor to Receive Broome Majority

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)— The majority of the delegates from the Democratic state chairman's home county will support Frank D. O'Connor at the party's nominating convention, the county chairman says.

Thomas J. Conlon told a reporter that Broome County's 13-member delegation met Wednesday night and voted to cast eight votes for O'Connor, the front runner in the race for Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

The other five votes were pledged to Howard Samuels, Canandaigua businessman who now is O'Connor's lone declared opposition. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is withdrawing.

State Chairman John Burns is the former mayor of Binghamton.

The latest pledge gives O'Connor 673 publicly pledged votes, according to an Associated Press tally. A candidate needs 573 votes for the nomination. Broome's five votes, is 176, by The Associated Press tabulation.

Over South Viet Nam, Air Force B52 bombers hit at a Viet Cong base camp and storage area today 30 miles northwest of Qui Nhon on the coast.

The latest ground fighting involved a company of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division which encountered an estimated reinforced Viet Cong company early today 20 miles north of Saigon.

Reinforcements were sent to the U.S. units and they engaged in heavy fighting until contact was broken toward midday. In late afternoon, contact was renewed but was described as sporadic.

In one of the newly announced Marine operations, the Leathernecks killed 50 Communist troops since the action began last Saturday. The heaviest engagement was fought Wednesday, a spokesman said, when Marines killed 23 of the enemy in fighting 14 miles southwest of Da Nang.

3rd Marines Involved

The operation, named Allegheny, involved units of the 3rd Marine Division. It reported its own casualties as light.

The other operation, called Prairie, was under way five miles south of the demilitarized zone. Marines fought a strongly entrenched force of North Vietnamese regulars 18 miles west of Dong Ha.

The operation began Aug. 3 as a reconnaissance in force. Since then the Marines reported killing 138 North Vietnamese. Most of the heavy action was in the last two days.

The Reds also lost heavily in an air strike.

American pilots flew 353 sorties in South Viet Nam Wednesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged 327huts and buildings and 11 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew an additional 299 sortes.

Probe 'Safe Conduct'

In a war-related development, CBS reported from Saigon that an investigation was under way into allegations that the South Vietnamese Navy had provided "safe conduct to sampans carrying food and supplies to Viet Cong units in the Mekong Delta."

In Washington, Rutherford Poats, assistant administrator for the Agency for International Development, said he knew nothing of any such incidents of safe conduct or investigations.

But he said "there could conceivably be a case" in which barges or sampans being convoyed by the Vietnamese Navy "stop off and deliver to villages that someone could consider to be VC-infested."

He added: "It's impossible to seal off whole areas and deny them resources."

Expect 350 New

aging between 40 and 45 students—come to the college each morning and afternoon. The students in each group are pursuing the same or similar programs. A morning group might be Liberal Arts students, while an afternoon group could be Business or Technology and Science students.

Dean Crout said visual aids are being used to help the students to properly fill out the many forms required in registration. Assistance also is being given to the students in developing their own schedules for the fall.

"These students need individual attention," Dean Crout said, "and we're giving it to them. We can do it now, but it wouldn't be possible at regular registration."

The students being registered at special registration obtain their books now for fall courses and aren't required to return to the college until September 19—the first day of classes.

Huge Spa Fire

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The sixth major fire in this resort village within a year today wrecked a downtown building, destroying three businesses and threatening adjacent buildings for a time.

The building housed the Western Auto Supply store, a former gift shop and a tavern. The three - story, brick structure at 336 Broadway contained apartments on the upper floors.

One fireman was injured slightly when struck by a falling tree limb. The building's owner, Charles Berlin, who occupied an apartment over the businesses, was taken to Saratoga Hospital for treatment of shock.

The building is flanked by the Colonial Tavern, which was heavily damaged by fire March 21, and a restaurant. Firemen battled to keep the flames from spreading to the two adjacent buildings.

John T. Roohan, Saratoga Springs director of public safety, said the fire apparently gained its start in the basement or a partition of the building.

Yorty Scores Bobby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, back home again after a fiery Washington appearance, has accused Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of attempting to "destroy all the friends" President Johnson has in order to further his own presidential ambitions.

"I got caught in the crossfire of Bobby Kennedy's attempt to undermine President Johnson," Yorty told a news conference Wednesday, and added: "In my opinion, he's trying to ride on his brother's fame and his father's loot and take over the United States of America."

The Los Angeles mayor appeared Tuesday before a Senate subcommittee studying the city and its problems and promptly got into an often caustic give-and-take debate with Kennedy and Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., about what the senators described as his lack of leadership.

Let Sun Do It

Nature makes the most practical finish for a wood deck or for fencing. Wind and sun bleach wood beautifully, whether or not the wood has been preservatively treated. Western red cedar weathers to a prized silver shade. Douglas fir is equally pretty, but has less luster, attaining more the soft shading of fine pewter.

Schedule Resnick,Lindbloom Talks In Poughkeepsie

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-28th) and Eric Lindbloom, independent peace candidate in the 28th Congressional District race, will engage in a public debate on "U. S. Policy in Viet Nam" Friday 8 p. m. in the Central Hudson Auditorium, South Road, Poughkeepsie.

In what promises to be a sharp exchange of views, Lindbloom will challenge Resnick's claim that the Viet Nam war has a legal and moral justification and that the U. S. is there to "stop aggression from the North" and preserve the freedom of the people of South Viet Nam. Taking a diametrically opposite view, Lindbloom contends that "our intervention in what was in the beginning a civil war has been flagrantly illegal, immoral and irresponsible."

Congressman Resnick has aligned himself with the official administration position on the war and has been a consistent backer of President Johnson's decisions to expand the conflict. Lindbloom, who says he entered the Congressional race to provide voters with "an alternative to escalation," advocates removing some of the "barriers to a negotiated settlement" by halting the bombing and offensive military operations and allowing the National Liberation Front (Vietcong) to participate in negotiations.

Both men are in agreement not only on the importance of the issue in the 28th District but in the importance of a searching and open public debate. Congressman Resnick has listed Viet Nam as the "No. 1 issue" in his campaign and Lindbloom says that the Congressional election in this district and in other key districts nationwide will be a "referendum" on the Administration's policy in Viet Nam.

The ground rules for the debate agreed upon by both sides call for a 15 minute opening statement by each candidate, and two 10-minute rebuttal periods. A question and answer period will follow. "An impartial moderator is being sought" whose name will be made public shortly.

Both candidates urged the public to attend the debate.

Black Power Has Fascination For Many of the Negro Young

By AUSTIN SCOTT

NEW YORK (AP) — The fascination of some young, city-bred Negroes with the slogan "black power" was evident Wednesday night as 500 teenagers and young adults gathered to shout their approval of its more militant advocates.

Half a dozen speakers at Harlem's First Corinthian Baptist Church were greeted by cheers whenever they praised "black power" or urged Negroes to unify.

Stokely Cheered

The loudest shouts, most piercing whistles and longest applause were reserved for Stokely Carmichael, 25, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, who had canceled a scheduled appearance in Chicago to come to Harlem.

A few persons leaped to their feet to cheer when he was announced as the second speaker at a forum sponsored by HARYOU-ACT, Harlem's antipoverty agency.

"It's almost impossible to speak the truth in this country," he began, and was forced to pause for a wave of applause. The clapping became more frequent and louder as Carmichael warmed to his 15-minute speech.

Gave Definitions

He gave several definitions of black power, calling it love at one point.

At another he said, "If they (whites) mess with a man in Los Angeles driving his wife to the hospital or a man walking down a highway in Mississippi, they'll have to mess with all of us."

Negroes will have to come together, Carmichael said, so that "we can move to disrupt this entire country."

Again and again both in his discussion of black power and his criticism of the U.S. role abroad, past and present, the slim, neatly dressed Negro was interrupted by applause and shouted approval.

He and all the other speakers avoided using the word "Negro," which is shunned by the more militant leaders as having been invented by the white man.

Only once did a speaker, Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, use the word. He caught himself immediately: "Er, maybe black men would be better," he said. And there were cries of "Yes," and "That's right," from the audience, along with a smattering of laughter and applause.

Audience response also indicated that the idea of Negroes concentrating on helping themselves had wide appeal.

"We have to move to the position where we support our own movement," Carmichael said and paused for applause.

"We have to move to make communities of love out of ghettoes." He paused again.

Carmichael saved his harshest words to criticize the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Saying that a disproportionate number of Negroes serve in Viet Nam, he shouted:

Got to Wake Up

"We have got to wake up. We have got to realize they are out to exterminate us. We got to realize this country exploits people the world over."

After pausing for applause, he called Negro soldiers who serve in Viet Nam "black mercenaries."

"If you go over and get shot and come back and you can't get buried in your own home town, you're a black mercenary," he said.

At this point, through a wave of clapping that swept the audience, McKissick and New York City Human Rights Commissioner William Booth, also a Negro, sat with their hands folded. McKissick had been one of the more enthusiastic clappers during the black power portion of the speech.

Jaycees Given Word on Proposed Area Drag Strip

Chairmen of various projects of the Kingston Area Jaycees were introduced during the regular meeting of the group by John Mazzuca, president.

Grady Montgomery reported on the proposed establishment of a "Jaycee Drag Strip" in the Kingston area. He reported that a minimum investment of $125,000 would be needed in order to meet national drag strip standards. He also reported that a Town of Esopus site and a Kingston site were being considered as possible sites for the drag strip.

Dick Hogan, external vice president, reported on the Traffic Safety Program conducted by the local organization. He reported that the City of Kingston Board of Public Works and the Town of Ulster Highway Department were cooperating 100 per cent in establishing uniform highway traffic signs that meet State standards.

President Mazzuca reminded the membership that this year's campaign for new members starts in September. All young men between the ages of 21 and 35 are invited to join the local organization.

Lindsay to Speak For VFW, Chided Group Earlier

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay comes face to face today with the Veterans of Foreign Wars — the conventioneers he chided after their marching feet kept parts of posh Fifth Avenue up past its bedtime.

Lindsay was scheduled to speak before the organization in the grand ballroom of the New York Hilton hotel after calling their six hour, Tuesday night-to-Wednesday morning parade just "too long."

"I'm sorry there wasn't more cooperation from the VFW," he told a news conference Wednesday.

Some 500 persons, bugles and bagpipes ringing in their ears, telephoned City Hall to protest the noise made by the 17,000 marchers and musicians.

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty New York State mayors have expressed general agreement that the new state constitution should free cities from present real estate tax limits.

Their position was made known Wednesday after the mayors and other municipal officials met in closed session at the Americana Hotel to discuss greater municipal powers they hope will be written into the constitution when it is revised next year.

The discussions also touched on home rule, but a spokesman said no firm decisions were reached.

Mayor James P. Rice of Suffern, president of the State Conference of Mayors, presided at the session, attended mostly by mayors of smaller cities.

Included in the 16-day event, which is being held at the Sullivan County Community College in South Fallsburg, will be the world premiere showing of the Original Old Testament paintings by Botex. The exhibit is comprised of some 100 paintings and pieces of sculpture.

Senator Newcombe also attended the reception given by the committee in honor of the visit of His Excellency Carlet Auguste, Haiti's Ambassador to the United Nations, His Excellency Andre Theard, the Haitian Ambassador to Washington and the Honorable Jean Saurel, the Haitian Minister of Tourism in New York City. The reception was held at Kutsher's Country Club, Monticello and the Senator commented that the exhibit was most impressive and the Committee should be congratulated on their efforts which have resulted in this wonderful cultural opportunity being available to the residents of our area.

Earlier in the day, Senator Newcombe attended the Columbia - Greene County Farm Bureau "Meet Your Candidates" picnic. Although the Senator is not himself, a candidate for re-election this year, he said, "I will continue to be interested in politics and government affairs on the local and state levels".

Murphy Faces Knife

LOS ANGELES (A) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., was scheduled to undergo surgery today on a vocal cord that spokesmen for the senator said may have a possible early malignancy.

He entered Presbyterian Hospital Wednesday. Last week, a surgeon scraped Murphy's vocal cords to remove scar tissue.

Murphy, 64, said last week he had exhausted his voice on speaking tours but planned to make scheduled appearances in the fall. The spokesmen said they expected him to remain in the hospital less than a week.

Since his election to the Senate in 1964 he has made more than 200 speeches in 29 states.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

School Bond Data To Be Given at Meeting Friday

NEW PALTZ — The board of education of New Paltz asks the support of all registered voters Aug. 30 of the $524,000 bond issue. After thorough analysis the board is covinced that its original concept of an expandable high school is educationally and economically sound. The expandable school concept provided by this plan will permit the expansion to an 1800 pupil high school as the population growth demands.

Financial indications point to the fact that costs are rising and will continue to rise. The Board has a firm bid, from reputable contractors of $18.35 per square foot, an excellent figure in today's market where state averages are well over $20 per square foot.

Sound educational planning makes it imperative that the board proceed now in order to have facilities to meet its obligation to the children.

Friday at 8 p. m. the Board of Education will conduct an informational meeting in the high school auditorium. All interested citizens may attend.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

FRESHMAN FIND FIRST WEEK FULL OF FUN AND QUESTIONS

Here are the answers to yesterday's multiple choice quiz on college problems. Whether you read the questions or not, I hope today's column may give you some hints to help you through the first weeks.

1. The very surest way to make a hit with your fellow students is to show an active interest in what interests them. Don't allow yourself to be wrapped up in your own affairs. Clothes and looks are an asset of course, but they are not as important as a friendly personality. Your new friends wil' judge you by what you are—not on your popularity record of the past.

2. The first and most important thing to do is arrange your scholastic curriculum according to what you need for proper credits and also what you enjoy. It is a great mistake to decide on a fraternity or sorority immediately. The first impression made when they are trying to attract the most desirable freshman can be quite different from that revealed on closer inspection. You may find you don't wish to join one at all. Don't rush into too many extracurricular activities either. Wait to see how much time you'll have and then choose those which you will enjoy, or profit from, the most.

3. Professors merit every sign of respect and should be called "Professor Brown," not "Prof" or by their first names. In cla , you should be quiet and attentive, only volunteer'ng to speak when you have an honest question or worthwhile comment to make. And no matter what you have heard, it is not an accepted practice to pay to get your work done by some one else. Not only is it cheating, but you'll learn nothing yourself.

4. You'll be a hit with your dormitory mates if you borrow as little as possible, and never without permission. You won't be considered a goody-goody by obeying "sign-in" rules; after all they were made for every one's good. And finally, don't form a tight little circle of friends. The popular girl or boy is the one who is interested in, and enjoys every one.

The booklet "Table Rules of Importance" describes how to eat spaghetti as well as other difficult foods. To get your copy, send 10c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post c/o this paper.

Governor to Be At Dutchess Fair Friday Afternoon

Three big fun days remain at the 121st Dutchess County Fair which concludes its 1966 edition at Rhinebeck Sunday night, Aug. 28.

Friday's grandstand show will feature an afternoon and evening performance by Jack Kochman's Hell Drivers.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will visit the fairgrounds late in the day for a tour of the extensive exhibits.

Saturday's program will be climaxed at 7 p. m. with a contest to select a County Fair Queen. There are 22 pretty finalists, chosen in preliminary contests in the county's two cities and 20 townships. A $500 Savings Bond awaits the winner.

Sunday will be highlighted by a personal appearance of Carmel Quinn, the Irish songstress, and an afternoon parade of the Dutchess County Volunteer Firemen's Association, with more than 55 marching units. Firemen and musical groups will compete for trophies.

Special features include pony racing Saturday and a horse-pulling contest Sunday, in addition to the fair's traditional attractions.

Girl Scout News

Active Cadette Program

Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop 135, which recently transferred from the Woodstock Neighborhood to the Kingston Neighborhood, had an interesting summer with emphasis on sports and outdoor fields of scouting.

The scouts have received instructions in swimming, tennis and canoeing, on a weekly basis. Swimming instructions were given by Mrs. Raymond Hill, leader, and Mrs. Sidney Smith, assisting. Both Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Smith are qualified Red Cross instructors. There were Thursday morning sessions in tennis at Forsyth Park with Mrs. Hill in charge and several Saturday morning canoe training periods with Mr. Hill giving valuable assistance. Parts of three outdoor badges were completed by the girls who were able to participate in the program. They included swimming, small craft and sports.

The Cadette Girl Scout program is a three year program for girls of junior high level. It is a girl planned program with four challenges which must be met. Each challenge includes the earning of six badges, one each in the fields of arts, home, out-of-doors, international friendship, citizenship and health and safety. Cadettes usually choose one challenge to concentrate on during the year and work continually toward the greatest challenge the Girl Scout Promise, which when completed aids the Scout towards earning the highest award in Cadette Scouting, the First Class Award.

Cites Fair Booth

Mrs. Robert Kmieciak, troop consultant of the Kingston Uptown Neighborhood has reported that the Dutchess County Girl Scout Council has an excellent booth at the Dutchess County Fair. Leaders may find many useful program ideas by visiting the booth.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts Inc., is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Synagogue News

Religious services will be held at Ahavath Israel Friday at 8 p. m. The prayers will be read by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, and the liturgy will be chanted by Cantor Larry Jacobs. Memorial prayers will be offered with those who are memorializing their deceased as the Yuhrtzeiten of next week.

Saturday morning the religious services will begin at 9:30, with the main service beginning at 10 a. m. Rabbi Schectman will summarize the Bible reading of the week, known as "Ki Saytzay", in which the ethical standards are set for the economic conditions of the nation of Israel, and the moral standards for a pure and chaste life.

Preparations are now going on for the services to be held on the High Holy Days. Cantor Larry Jacobs is training a choir of the men and women of the congregation to assist in the chanting of the prayers for the holidays.

Dear Abby . . .

No Explanation Needed Here

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who has not been married very long, has telephoned us to tell us that she is leaving her husband and is coming home. We can't understand what happened. She never indicated in any of her letters that her marriage wasn't going well. They seemed so in love and well suited to each other, and they surely went together long enough. Our problem is what to tell people.

In case she changes her mind and goes back to him, we don't want a lot of talk needlessly. Should we give our friends and relatives a "hint" as to why she's coming home in case she decides to stay? What if her visit is prolonged? THE PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Tell people she is coming home for a visit. (She is). If she decides to stay, let HER make the announcement. You owe no explanations to anyone.

DEAR ABBY: As far as husbands go, mine is tops. They threw the pattern away after they made him. But he has one fault. He hits, kicks and bites me in his sleep. I carried a scar from one of his bites for two weeks.

My friend says that maybe he wants to beat the daylights out of me during the daytime, but he waits for a dream to bring out his true feelings. Is this possible?

BEATEN AND BITTEN

DEAR B and B: Could be. But there is always a chance that he is not dreaming about you when he lashes out tooth and nail. In self-defense you should have twin beds.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine received an old beat up overstuffed chair from a friend of hers. The friend who received the chair was going to reupholster it. When she took it apart, she found several very old coins deep down in the cushion.

Some of the coins were so old you wouldn't believe they even had coins way back in those days. They could be very valuable. Whose coins are they? They came with the chair.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: The coins "accidentally" came with the chair. The receiver should notify the giver that the coins were found in the chair. It is my view that the coins belong to the giver.

CONIDENTIAL TO "NAMELESS, PLEASE" IN LOUISVILLE: True, you may not "need" the money. But a man who borrows money needs to pay his honest debts. Yes, by all means, let him know his note is overdue.

Saratoga Performing Arts Center Ends Summer Season; Capacity Attendance

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. The Saratoga Performing Arts Center was empty today, but echoes of ballet steps, symphony music and opera arias held promise for next season and seasons after.

The center closed its 45-day season Wednesday night with a sparkling performance of the light opera, die Fledermaus, before an overflow crowd of 10,000 persons.

The appreciative audience closed the center's first season by filling the amphitheater's 5,000 seats. They also covered the spacious, sloping lawn outside the $4 million building.

Eugene Ormandy directed the Philadelphia Orchestra's performance of the Johann Strauss opera. Singers included sopranos Roberta Peters and Hilde Guden, mezzo - soprano Kitty Carlisle, baritones Theodor Uppman and Frank Guarrera, tenors Barry Morell and Arthur Graham and bass Lawrence Davidson.

The narrator was Ralph Herbert.

The weather was cool for the final performance, with temperatures hovering around 60, and many persons wore sweaters and wraps.

The audience was warm in its response, however, and called the orchestra back for nine curtain calls. At the sixth call, the orchestra refused to rise at Ormandy's signal, a gesture that allowed him to take the applause alone.

He bowed to the musicians in return.

The attendance was the second highest of the season, coming just behind the 12,000 that were present for a performance by pianist Van Cliburn earlier in the 14 - concert program by the Philadelphia Orchestra.

The center also is the summer home for the New York City Ballet, which performed during July.

U. S. Military Band Gives Concert This Sunday: Free

The U. S. Military Academy Band will present its eighth and final concert in the summer series this Sunday, Aug. 28, at 8 p. m. in the Military Academy's Trophy Point Amphitheater. Lieutenant Colonel William H. Schempf will conduct.

In addition to selections of Tscchaikowsky, including the "Nutcracker Suite," Op. 71A, the concert will feature marches played by the "Hellcats," the field marching unit of the band.

Also on the program are the Sounds of the Tijuana Brass, arranged by William Russell, presented by members of the Military Academy Band.

The program will end with "The Official West Point March," by Philip Egner.

RVCS Classes Schedule Visits To Ag Colleges

Members of the Rondout Valley Central School agriculture classes will be visiting three agricultural colleges during the next two weeks.

The trips are being conducted in order to acquaint students with the opportunities and requirements for a college education in agriculture.

The students will visit the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University and the Agricultural and Technical Colleges at Delhi and Cobleskill.

At each college students will have the opportunity to visit with admissions persons relative to the advantages of a college education in agriculture, entrance requirements and recommendations, areas of study available, costs, placement and salary opportunities following graduation.

A brief tour of the facilities will also be included.

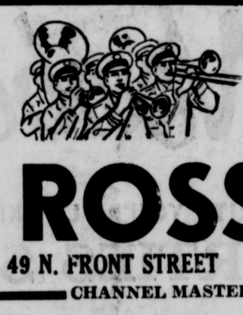

It is expected that trips of this nature will prove valuable to students in giving them first hand information and assistance when considering a college education in agriculture.

It is hoped that additional colleges may be visited next summer.

The students will be accompanied on their visits by Walter Elmore, teacher of agriculture, at Rondout Valley Central School.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Recently my grandmother made a very handy cleaning rag for my mother.

It is a large mitten made from an old terry cloth towel, and nylon net is sewn onto one side of the mitten to help remove spots.

Mother uses it to wash Venetian blinds, because with this over her hand, she cannot cut herself.

R. A. W.

This mitten would also be wonderful for cleaning woodwork.

The net wouldn't scratch the paint but would remove grease spatters, smudges, etc., while the terry cloth would absorb the moisture and prevent the possibility of getting splinters in your hand.

Your grandmother deserves a big hug for this hint, which I'm sure she would love to get from you.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I just had to tell you about the cute thing my husband did when he had a sore knee.

You know how annoying it is to wrap a heating pad around your knee and the next minute look and see it has come loose.

My husband solved this.

He went to his closet, got a belt and fastened it around the hot pad on his knee and it stayed wonderfully.

Mrs. Dennis Wagner

Dear Heloise:
A cabinet type sewing machine with a fold-out top makes a fine over-the-bed table for an invalid or bed patient.

The opening of the dropped-in machine head may be covered with a tray or piece of plywood while the leaf is being used over the bed.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:
I'm making a file box of Heloise columns and recipes for my hope chest and adding my favorite cartoons, too, especially those under "Husband" and "Children."

I have the feeling that when I need the hints, I'll need a laugh, also!

Connie

Dear Heloise:
When I used to open a package of crackers, use some of them and put the rest back in the box, they absorbed moisture and did not keep crisp.

Now I wrap them back in the original paper, then put it in a tight plastic bag. It keeps them much crisper.

A Reader

Dear Heloise:
Here is something I find very useful since I have five children who won't touch any food with onions or celery visible.

I put enough of these vegetables for flavor in a metal tea container, and drop it in the stew pot. When the stew, etc., is cooked, I remove the tea container and vegetables.

The kids don't see them, and we still have the desired flavor.

S. W. S.

And you have also added the precious vitamins!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I am a handicapped person in a wheelchair and I always keep sticks (two or three feet long) in convenient places to straighten rugs or to pick up dropped articles.

I can even use them to hang clothes up on the hooks or rods in closets.

My favorite is half of an old curtain rod. If my canned goods get too far back on the shelves, I can hook the rounded end of the curtain rod around the can and pull it out where I can reach it.

Rifton Youth Organization Now In Fifth Year

Activities planned and directed by the Rifton Youth Organization, which will mark the beginning of its fifth year in a few weeks, are proving exceptionally popular and helpful to area youths.

The programs conducted by Joseph Feraca, organizer and director, assisted by his staff of experienced people, have brought favorable comment from parents of youth of the area and many business people, who lend their support to the projects.

Recently some 53 young people were taken by Acker's Bus Lines to Palisades Park, N. J., where they enjoyed a day's outing and recreation. Feraca and Mrs. Bertha Walz, an advisor, were in charge of the group. The bus trip and outing were among many feature events conducted by the Rifton YO to promote a friendly and healthy outlook on the future for the young people.

Feraca reports he has received a batch of mail from members of the organization who are serving with the Armed Forces. A recent letter came from Stephen Withall, son of Arthur H. Whithall, president of the Kingston Board of Education Consolidated and postmaster at Ulster Park, and Mrs. Whithall.

Young Withall is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. In his letter he expressed his appreciation for an identification bracelet presented to him prior to leaving for training. "I'd like to congratulate you and all other youth clubs for the fine job you are doing in strengthening the moral bonds of America's youth" Withall wrote. "Perhaps, because of such a movement, there will some day be no longer a need to maintain the large Armies and Navies as we do today."

Another Rifton recipient of a token presented by the director, wrote in a recent letter that he was very appreciative of a pen given him. He is Raymond Helmich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Helmich, who expressed the hope that the Rifton Club "is progressing and receiving the support of all area residents.

Membership in the Youth Organization includes boys and girls ranging in age from eight to 18 years. The club participates in discussions of current youth problems as well as projects in recreational activities. The club operates with the maximum cooperation of parents who serve as youth leaders.

The motto of the organization is "It's better to build boys than to rebuild men."

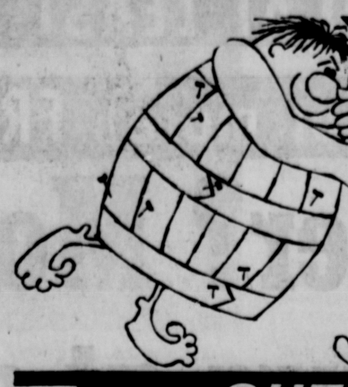

Feraca said he hopes that some day in the not too far future there will be a youth club patterned after the Rifton Youth Organization in every town in Ulster County. Information as to how to start a club may be obtained from Feraca, Town of Esopus, a town constable and captain of the Rifton Fire-Police Unit.

Other officers of the Rifton club are: Kathleen Malone, vice president; Penny Walz, treasurer; Mac Eckert, secretary; and Mary Ann Marintsch and Mrs. Bertha Waltz, advisors.

Balance Held Key To Party Success In Fall Campaign

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The professional politicians now are wrestling with their own version of the three R's — racial, religious and regional factors — to "balance" their state election tickets.

They don't like to admit it directly, but it's commonly agreed that they will be most influenced by ethnic considerations in rounding out their gubernatorial tickets.

Under the long-standing practice of ticket-balancing, a potential candidate's place of residence, the church he attends, his color and national origin ultimately will determine whether he gets to fill one of the supporting roles.

Right now, among the various parties, there is talk of finding a suitable Italian-American or a Negro or an Upstate man or a qualified woman to run for state offices.

It's a question of having just the right qualifications at just the right time. There are also a number of accepted "taboos" that veteran politicos are loathe to violate.

For instance, it is dogma in political circles that a party should try to balance the religion of the men at the head of the ticket — the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

Thus the apparent Democratic nominee for governor, Frank D. O'Connor, an Irish Catholic, may not have a fellow Catholic as his running mate.

Moreover, since O'Connor lives in Queens, the ticket-balancers probably will be looking for an Upstate man to run for lieutenant governor, to provide regional balance.

The political pros agree also that it is a must to have a Jew on the state ticket. State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Brooklyn resident, fills that hole for the Democrats.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, who lives in Manhattan, holds down the so - called "Jewish spot" for the GOP.

As the head of the Republican ticket, Rockefeller, a Protestant, is balanced by his longtime running mate, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, a Roman Catholic. In another sense, Wilson's conservative Republican philosophy is deemed to provide a neat counterpoise to Rockefeller's more liberal viewpoint.

Four years ago, the GOP decided it should run an Upstate Italian-American against Levitt. John P. Lomenzo, then a Monroe County judge, was tapped. He was beaten badly.

This year, there is considerable sentiment for Tax Commissioner Joseph Murphy, primarily because of his Upstate background. He comes from Syracuse.

But there also is revived support for trying another Italian-American — in an effort to appeal to voters of Italian origin. Two state senators, Thomas Laverne of Rochester and Edward Speno of Nassau County, have been mentioned in this category.

On the Democratic side, there is talk of running a Negro for one of their two open spots — lieutenant governor or attorney general.

On a recent visit to Schenectady, O'Connor told reporters — during an exceptionally candid exchange — that he would like to have a Negro on his ticket and that he also would like to have a woman and an Upstate resident to provide balance. He agreed, in addition, that he probably would have to have a Protestant running mate.

APPRECIATION of Newspaper Enterprise Association's support for activities of The Laymen's National Committee, Inc., an interfaith religious educational organization, is marked with presentation of an illuminated scroll to Boyd Lewis, left, NEA president and editor. Dr. Charles J. Turck, committee vice president, makes the presentation. Committee activities include National Bible Week, to be observed this year Oct. 17-23.

Mid-Hudson Span 36 years Old

The Mid-Hudson Bridge will be 36 years old today. The bridge was opened to traffic on Aug. 25, 1930. Since opening day, 85,562,164 vehicles have crossed this bridge.

The total traffic for the year 1931, in its first full year of operation, amounted to 474,208 vehicles. The traffic for last year, 1965, amounted to 4,799,086 vehicles which is approximately 10 times the traffic of 1931. Since 1930, many changes have taken place in the approaches to the Mid-Hudson Bridge.

Most important is the widening of the east approach and the construction of the Poughkeepsie Arterial Highway which is to be opened to traffic soon.

The Bridge Authority has also let a contract to construct a new approacn from the west end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge to Route 9W. It is expected that this approacn will be completed in late 1967 .

At that time the Authority will move its toll collecting plaza to the west side of the river where a six-lane plaza will be placed in operation.

Governor Labels Hornell School Plan One of Best

HORNELL, N.Y. (AP)— Gov. Rockefeller told the Hornell Board of Education today that the school system in this Southern Tier community was one of the finest in the state.

In remarks prepared for delivery at a board luncheon, he noted that the Hornell schools had received a 182 per cent increase in state aid since 1959, when he took office.

Later, in an address prepared for a gathering at Union Park, Rockefeller linked expanded state highway construction in the area to expansion in business and industry.

Rockefeller continued to praise his administration's education, highways and pure waters programs on the third day of a re-election campaign swing across Upstate and western New York.

In Dansville, in west-central New York, he told a breakfast meeting of Livingston County Republicans that he regarded the expansion of the nearby State University College at Geneseo as "one of the major achievements" of his administration in the area.

Other activites today included a tour of the Steuben County Fair and an address at the Schuyler County GOP picnic in Watkins Glen.

At Batavia Wednesday, Rockefeller predicted a Republican victory in November because, he said, he had scored achievements in the areas people care about.

Daily Running Could Prevent Heart Breakdown

By TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Perhaps the best way to avert a heart attack — or to survive one — is to run miles each day.

That's the opinion of a 51-year-old heart specialist who practices what he preaches. He runs about five miles every morning.

"The heart is a muscle, and it needs exercise like any other muscle to stay healthy," says Dr. Carleton B. Chapman.

The best exercise for the heart, he believes, is sustained running or riding a bicycle.

Dr. Chapman, who smokes an occasional filter cigarette, is a professor of medicine at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas. He is immediate past president of the American Heart Association.

Running for 13 Years

Dr. Chapman has been running regularly for 13 years, and he plans to continue indefinitely.

He makes the point that such exercise must be done daily or at least four or five times a week to be effective.

"Heavy exercise taken sporadically, or only once in a while, could do more harm than good" by sudden overloads on a flabby heart.

The key, then to treating a heart attack patient is what he calls "carefully graduated activity."

After a patient is able to get out of bed, Dr. Chapman has him walk a mile or two a day. This is stepped up to slow running or jogging a mile in the morning and a mile in the evening.

If all goes well, the patient gets into the routine in time of running, walking or riding a bicycle four or five miles a day.

Sensible Stress Urged

"The important thing is a program of sensible stress on the circulatory system."

He said he began thinking about a possible correlation between inactivity and heart trouble when he learned that the death rate in the United States from coronary problems is five or six times what it is in Sweden, where people are considerably more active.

His thinking was spurred on by a study he read of in London, which said conductors on the double-decked buses have significantly less heart trouble than the drivers. The conductors are constantly climbing up and down the vehicle stairs, while the drivers just sit in a seat for hours.

"Being a scientist, I'm not in a position yet to say categorically that physical inactivity is related to coronary trouble. But I believe that it is," he said.

He added that one reason why American women suffer fewer heart attacks than their white-collar husbands is possibly that they are much more active doing housework and looking after children.

Director Named For State Unit, Yet to Be Built

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. James A. Brice, associate director of Kings Park State Hospital, will be the director of the new state mental hospital to be built on Staten Island.

The selection of Brice was announced today by the state mental hygiene commissioner, Dr. Alan D. Miller. He said this was the first time a director had been appointed before an institution was built.

Miller said the purpose of designating Brice in advance was to enable him to participate in all phases of planning and programming of the hospital. Construction is to begin in 1968.

Brice, 46, assumed his new title officially today and began drawing the $22,328 annual salary that does with the job.

He lives in Woodbury, Nassau County.

FIRE CAME TO FIRE TRUCK—Firemen from Huntingdon, Pa., stand by helplessly as their 1923 vintage pumper goes up in flames near State College, Pa., as they were returning home from a volunteer firemen's convention. Guard Assigned To Keep Order Sunday in Cicero

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois National Guard will protect Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and a column of civil rights followers Sunday when they parade in Cicero, where Guardsmen used bayonets to quell a race riot in 1951.

The decision to use the Guard in the all-white suburb on Chicago's western boundary was made Wednesday by Gov. Otto Kerner.

Assessing Situation

Cicero officials and Sheriff Richard Ogilvie of Cook County had declared that state, county and Cicero police would not be able to contain anti-Negro hostility in the community.

Kerner told newsmen that he wouldn't know how many troops would be needed until Guard officers assess the situation.

"Until I know that," he said, "we cannot designate any units. Obviously, we prefer to call on those in the vicinity of Cicero and Chicago."

When asked why he thought the Guard was needed, Kerner replied:

"If you anticipate there is to be property destruction, and even more importantly, possible fatalities, I think it's important that we do everything within our power to maintain law and order and peace in the community."

Maj. Gen. Francis Kane, commanding general of the Guard's 33rd Division, said at least 2,000 troops would be mobilized.

"We don't anticipate any trouble with the citizens of Cicero," Kane said. "And any outsiders looking for trouble will be stopped — and stopped promptly."

Cicero officials have said they fear a large influx of white supremist organizations, including the American Nazi party, into the suburb.

Dr. King said he appreciated the governor's "concern for the protection of our march into Cicero."

Local Firemen Fight 3 Blazes, One Incendiary

A Wednesday night fire in the Kingston Point refuse disposal area, which kept firemen at the scene for some three hours, was followed by another early today believed deliberately set.

Other Wednesday calls were for a car fire and for checking the sounding of an inside emergency alarm at the J. Watson Bailey School, Merilina Avenue Extension.

A first fire at the refuse disposal area was reported at 7:23 p. m. Units from the Union and Cordts companies were dispatched there with Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholtz in charge.

At about 3 a. m. today another fire was reported there. Deputy Chief Bucholtz investigated and Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, was notified. Cole said it appeared that the second fire had been set because it was beyond the area where the first had been checked. It was a smoldering fire with no heavy blaze.

Police headquarters notified firemen of the alarm trouble at the J. Watson Bailey School at 9:06 p. m. Units from Wiltwyck responded with Lt. Peter Schatzel in charge. Richard McLean, of 60 South Manor Avenue, superintendent of maintenance at the school, was also notified and went there. It stopped sounding when the system was checked. It apparently had been set off by a malfunction in a control unit.

A flooded carburetor was said to be the cause of a blaze in the car of James Clark, of 408 Albany Avenue, at that address. Firemen from Wiltwyck Station responded at 8:01 p. m. with Lt. Schatzel in charge. Wiring and the hood were reported damaged.

Pack 9 Scouts Visit Tri-Mount

Despite cool weather, a group of Cub Scouts and their families gathered at the parking lot of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, which sponsors Cub Pack 9 for a trip to Camp Tri-Mount, recently.

Cubs included Stephan and Thomas Krause, Joseph Wolff, Monte Kramer, Ronald Zimmerman, David Coissons and Richard Hunger.

There were exhibits on first aid, nature and a trading post. The Cubs also viewed a canoe race and an underwater distance swim.

The Cubs got a chance to shoot four shots each at a relay pigeon at the camp firing range. They also visited the archery range where they were given a lecture and an opportunity to shoot at targets.

At another station a Boy Scout demonstrated the proper use of an axe. All kinds of knots were displayed and each Cub got a chance to tie differend kinds.

After the exhibits a loud speaker called all cubs to the game field where a tug of war was in process.

A picnic supper was held at 6 p. m.

The next Pack 9 meeting will be Sept. 26 in the assembly room of the church of the Redeemer instead of the previously reported Sept. 19.

Famed Collection Goes on Exhibit For Sale Locally

In 1902 this Detroit-born, 22-year-old artist gained overnight international recognition. Arriving in Paris on the last day of entry in the annual Pan-European exhibition of the Paris Salon, he completed a self-portrait in four hours at a friend's studio. The pose, in half shadow against the cold north light of the window, is both facetious and bold. Dressed in shirt-sleeves with a tall silk hat cocked nonchalantly on his head, Rolshoven is holding his brushes in his right hand, his palette in the left. The portrait was not only accepted by the Salon, but won a prize and was acquired by the Uffizi Gallery in Florence for its famous collection of self-portraits.

Additional prizes followed and soon the Metropolitan and other leading museums were collecting his colorful works. Rolshoven divided his time between Florence and Taos, N. M., where he painted a series of Indian themes shown last fall in a Memorial Exhibition at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque. Numerous studies for a huge mural were loaned by Heermann and are now included in his exhibition.

Other interesting items offered in the current sale are a signed Bernini drawing of the Sistine Chapel, a Sargent Lithograph, a Spanish-American naval battle scene in oil, a seventeenth-century portrait of a wigged gentleman and Woodstock landscapes by Walter (Pop) Goltz, all of which make an exciting exhibition.

Library Receives Unusual Volume To Abet Protest

Woodstock Library has recently received a timely and beautiful gift, Time and the River Flowing, the Grand Canyon, a volume donated by Elizabeth Thibaut in memory of her father, Richard Edward Thibaut Sr.

Published by the Sierra Club, a conservationist organization, the book features pages of stunning color photographs of the Grand Canyon, its flora and fauna; is a plea to lovers of nature to oppose Bill HR 4671 now pending in Congress. This Colorado River Basin bill, if passed, would include two new dams on the Colorado River, one in Marble Canyon and one in the lower Grand Canyon which would back water up many miles into the Grand Canyon National Monument and effectively flood the inner gorge. The dams are designed not to conserve water but to produce power for pumping water into Arizona from dams downriver and provide surplus power for sale to help pay project costs, opponents say.

They have testified that the dams will cause a waste of water; that such huge dams are now obsolete; and that there are many alternatives to the Southwest's water problem which have not been considered by the Bureau of Reclamation. The two Grand Canyon dams are only part of the bill's 360-million dollars worth of reclamation projects in Utah, Wyoming, Colorado and Arizona but they are the two which have aroused public interest and considerable fear for the loss of many miles of the nation's most spectacular recreational area.

In donating the volume to the Woodstock Library, Miss Thibaut hopes it will encourage people to protest the Lower Colorado Project by writing to members of Congress.

WSCS Sets Meeting

Officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Overlook Methodist Church, Woodstock, urge all members of the group to attend a meeting set for Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 8 p. m. in the church hall, Tinker Street.

Issues to be discussed will result in important voting, they say, and have called for a large turn-out as most desirable.

BROCK PAINTING OFFERED—Among local artists of national and international fame, who have donated paintings to be offered for sale at the upcoming Benedictine Hospital bazaar and sale in Woodstock in early September, is Brock Brokenshaw. Brock has contributed the lovely landscape above, a fact that brought smiles to several members of the bazaar committee, including (l-r) Frank Benson, president of the Woodstock branch of the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties; Sister Mary Charles, administrator of Benedictine Hospital; Blair Roman, ticket seller; co-chairman Peggy Egan; and Adele Longendyke, co-chairman. Among other artists contributing are Tom Riley and Kay Burgevin. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Arts Camp Slates Fall Classes for Children, Adults

Ruth Ingalls, head of Creative Arts Camp of Woodstock, announces a six-week series of dance classes for children, and a six-week series of physical fitness classes for women, to be held at Creative Arts Camp, Wylie Lane, Woodstock.

Children's dance classes will begin Wednesday, Sept. 7 for pre-schoolers and Thursday, Sept. 8 for children ages seven to nine at 4 p. m. and for ages 10 through high school at 5 p. m.

Miss Ingalls has had wide experience in teaching her particular method which originated with Alys Bentley. Her method is based on the fundamentals of music and body coordination with emphasis on free expression through movement.

Before moving to Woodstock, Miss Ingalls taught in Port Washington, L. I., and New York City. Last spring she gave special classes to the United Nations nursery school children. This past winter she taught in Palm Beach, Fla. Miss Ingalls is now completing a successful season at her summer camp which she established for teaching arts to children in a creative way.

Adult classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday at 8:30 p. m. A Wednesday daytime class is also being formed. In adult classes stress is on physical fitness through relaxed movement geared to the individual.

2 Persons Hurt In City Mishaps

Two persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps Wednesday.

Ruth Sissler, 18, of Queens, riding in a car driven by Ira H. Kleinfield, of 4500 Broadway, New York, suffered an injured left foot in a mishap at 3:30 p.m. at Greenkill Avenue and Prospect Street, involving a truck.

Police said the truck, owned by Mechanics Uniform Rental Inc., Newark, N. J., was driven by C. C. Blanchard Jr., of 83 Cedar Street. The injured woman was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum ambulance.

After a truck-bicycle mishap on Ten Broeck Avenue, police said William Dugan, 8, of 133 TenBroeck Avenue, suffered a head injury and was to be treated by a doctor.

A report at 11:16 a. m. said the boy was riding a bicycle on the sidewalk when "it ran into the wheels of the truck and fell to the ground." The truck was driven by William Francis Hayes, 36, of Box 13A, Route 9W, Ulster Park.

Officers Frank Kennelly and Douglas Longto investigated both mishaps.

No injuries were reported after a two-car mishap at Albany Avenue and the Route 587 interchange reported at 8:25 p. m. Police said the one car was driven by Raymond J. Winter, 18, of 20 Josephine Avenue, and the other by Charles A. Keeler Jr., 35, of Binghamton. Officers Lewis Keator and Richard Spaulding investigated.

School Tax Down For Woodstockers

School tax bills for the Onteora Central School District will increase in all townships except Woodstock where an increase of one point in the equalization rate caused a decrease in the tax rate. An increase in assessed value of property in the district totaled $473,500, a factor which preevnted further increase in the tax rates. Last year's increase in assessed value was $385,000. Major increases in assessed value were noted in Olive with $222,765 and in Woodstock with $155,437.

Woodstock, which showed $126.318 in 1965-66 now has a rate of $124.110, a decrease of $2.208.

Lexington, with $26.594 in 1965-66 shows $29.351 in 1966-67, or an increase of $2,757.

Shandaken, which was billed $50,525 in 1965-66 has $53.782 for 1966-67, an increase of $3.257.

Olive's increase is $7,509, up to $124.107 in 1966-67 as compared to $116.598 in 1965-66.

Hurley, which showed $65.904 during the last school year now has a rate of $73,333, an increase of $7.429.

The tax rate per $1,000 on value property in the total district increased 99 cents from $15.15 to $16.13. An increase of $94,569 in State Aid as a result of recent legislation prevented further increase in local tax rates.

Driver Given Summons

Cars driven by Charles Lane, 16, of Lebanon, Pa., and Paul Krusher, 26, of 11 Sterley Avenue, Saugerties, were involved in a collision at 9:15 p. m. Wednesday at the intersection of Route 9W and Route 32, according to Kingston State Police. Trooper Robert Mackey cited Lane for driving without a license. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cody, Town of Saugerties, Sergeant Charles Bundschu reported.

Report F.D.R. Jr. To Withdraw From Dem Race

By TOM POSTER

The 52-year-old son of the late President called a news conference for 2:30 p.m. today to make "an important announcemen."

Roosevelt's camping aides said the candidate had drafted a withdrawal announcement and was making late changes in it this morning at his home in Poughquag, near Poughkepsie, N.Y.

Reports began to circulate Tuesday night after Roosevelt failed to appear at the reform Lexington Democratic Club to seek the group's support.

The two other announced candidates — Upstate businessman Howard Samuels and New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor — did appear, and Samuels won the group's endorsement, 41 to 22.

On an early morning broadcast today, WCBS-TV said it had learned authoritatively that Roosevelt would drop out of the Democratic race.

Should Roosevelt do so, it was considered likely that he might be bidding for the Liberal party nomination.

The Liberals have refused to endorse O'Connor, who claims to have enough pledged delegate strength to win the Democratic nomination on the first ballot at the convention in Buffalo Sept. 7-8.

The Liberals, who consider O'Connor too closely aligned with the old-line political "bosses" and too conservative in his views, have said they will run a candidate of their own.

Incumbent Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, a Republican, is seeking a third term.

Flood Loss Hits Millions; Massive Cleanup Begins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Losses running into millions of dollars became evident today as massive cleanups began in flood-stricken areas around Dell City, Tex., and Carlsbad, N.M.

Skies cleared, easing threats of more rain in sectors still caked with mud and not completely drained.

All major highways were reopened after two days of virtual isolation for Dell City in particular. At least part of the telephone circuits were repaired.

The death toll from Monday's flooding stood at four, all in New Mexico. Two persons drowned, and two were killed as a station wagon skidded off a wet road.

Texas Highway Patrol Capt. Jerry Miller estimated damage to houses in Dell City would amount to a minimum of $2 million. Of the 250 persons forced to evacuate when water rose to six feet, only a few spent Tuesday night in schools. The others returned to their homes.

Crop losses promised to be staggering. Farm experts reported flood waters pouring off the mountains close by damaged thousands of acres of crops. These sources said 30 to 35 per cent of the various crops were destroyed.

At Carlsbad, in southeast New Mexico to the north of Dell City, Mayor Robert Boyd said more than 100 dwellings suffered heavily. New Mexico Gov. Jack Campbell quoted a preliminary survey indicating $100,000 damage to public facilities around Carlsbad.

President Signs

agriculture to regulate the handling of animals.

Penalty Is $1,000 Fine

Violators of the legislation could be punished by fines up to $1,000 and up to one year imprisonment.

The drive for the dognaping legislation was led by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who contended that up to 65 per cent of the nation's research animals have been stolen.

Two 1964 dognaping cases in Pennsylvania focused national attention on the extent of the racket.

Truck Halted

A House subcommittee was later told by Rep. Resnick that a truck bound from Pennsylvania to New York was stopped in Easton, Pa., for inspection and found to be carrying dogs for which the driver had no bill of sale.

Lakavage read of the incident and thought he recognized his stolen Dalmatian in a newspaper photograph.

The day after the truck was stopped the dealer produced a bill of sale and continued his journey to an animal farm in Ulster County, N.Y., which is in Resnick's congressional district.

Mrs. Lakavage subsequently went to Ulster County but could not gain access to the farm without a warrant. Resnick said he later learned that two Dalmatians from the truck had been delivered directly to a New York City hospital and not to the farm in Ulster County.

Call Too Late

"By the time we called the hospital it was too late," Resnick told the subcommittee. "The dog had been operated on and had died — a mere four days after the truck driver had been apprehended in Pennsylvania."

Resnick added, however, that positive identification of the dog was impossible because it was cremated.

The Humane Society later said it had found evidence of dog theft rings in Pennsylvania as well as in New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Connecticut.

Watertown Marine Killed in Viet Nam

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Marine Pfc. Peter Booras, 20, of Watertown, was killed last week during hostile action near da Nang, South Viet Nam, his parents have learned.

The Pentagon said Wednesday night that Booras was standing perimeter guard duty when a case of grenades blew up next to him during an exchange of gunfire.

Booras enlisted in the Marine Corps last January and was sent to Vet Nam Aug. 14. He had attended Watertown High School.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Boras. He also leaves three sisters, all of Watertown. They live at 522 W. Mullen St.

Dirksen Disputes

Johnson, was not going to engage in any numbers game. But he said he is willing to take on some bets, with odds of 1 to 2, that the Republicans capture as many as 50 Democratic House seats.

Johnson, who takes off Friday for a "nonpolitical" trip to Idaho, Colorado and Oklahoma on the way to a birthday weekend at his Texas ranch, spelled out his answers to some of the issues of the campaign this way at his news conference:

Street violence — his administration has done more than any in history to help make the cities livable. He mentioned Demonstration Cities, new housing, antipoverty, rent supplement and Teachers Corps legislation.

Inflation — He expressed hope labor will keep wage demands within reasonable bounds of productivity increases and that those who determine profit margins will exercise self-restraint.

Other Topics

Political influence — Party contributions "do not influence (government contract) awards." The attorney general has been ordered to investigate every allegation of this nature.

Viet Nam — Any "hard sell" effort by the administration to promote an all-Asian peace conference — such as Republicans are plugging — "could have an opposite effect."

Johnson also commented on a suggestion by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon that the President might replace Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., on the 1968 ticket. He was asked for an estimate of Nixon's political insight.

"I think the people of the country have a pretty good estimate of that," he replied. The allusion apparently was to Nixon's defeat for the presidency and for governor of California.

But while he praised Humphrey as "a fine and excellent public servant," Johnson declined any 1968 ticket commitment.

Johnson Promises

asked about support from Johnson for his political hopes.

"The President said, of course, he wouldn't intervene in the convention. But he said he would support the Democratic nominee and hopes for Democratic governors in all 50 states."

During a question and answer period after Wednesday's Press Club luncheon, O'Connor was asked whether he felt Kennedy's endorsement was necessary to his nomination and whether Kennedy would support him if he were nominated.

"Anything in the way of support is necessary in a campaign," O'Connor said, "and I would be delighted to receive it."

"Kennedy has said he will neither support nor oppose any individual candidate for the nomination.

O'Connor also said he could win the nomination "without going near New York City." He explained that this is the case because his pledged delegate strength comes largely from Upstate "where there are no bosses."

In New York, meanwhile, Reform Democrats indicated a two to one preference for Howard Samuels at a caucus Wednesday night. The vote, however, committed none of the 71 delegates present to voting for the Canandaigua businessman at the convention.

Samuels said earlier Wednesday he would not consider running on the same ticket as O'Connor as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rally faltered on its second day and prices were mixed early this afternoon in routine trading.

Glamor stocks resumed their market leadership at the start but the list reached its peak in a half hour. The trend was downward from that point on.

Analysts showed no enthusiam about the character of the rally, saying it was technical and based on no change in the economic and financial factors which were blamed for the 205-point drop in the Dow Jones industrial average from its February peak.

Airline erased early gains and most were lower. The same applied to electronics, office equipments, electrical equipments and photographic issues.

Tobaccos and Big Three motors held small gains.

Xerox was down 4, Polaroid 3 and Zenith nearly 2.

uniform, efforts will be made toward improvement. If there is sufficient improvement, these GIs will remain in service. If not, the trainee will receive an honorable discharge on the grounds that he is not qualified for military service.

40,000 Involved

Pentagon manpower officials said that the 40,000 men who enter the service under the new program between October and next July 1 will be those now disqualified by substandard scores in military intelligence and aptitude tests. They will get special educational training.

Starting next July 1, when the program begins absorbing 100,000 men a year, men also will be accepted with physical ailments which can be cured in about six weeks. An example would be a man with a hernia, which could be corrected with relatively minor surgery.

The manpower officials said quotas for the program are being worked out among the armed services but the Army will get the bulk of the trainees.

To Review Classification

They said the Selective Service is expected to review men classified 1Y—eligible for duty only in time of national emergency or war—and many of these will be among the new trainees.

They said about 200,000 of the 2 million men in the 1Y category probably can be qualified under the new program to meet standards and remain in service.

The officials said 30 per cent, or about 12,000 of the first 40,000 trainees, are expected to be Negro. At present, about 10 per cent of all recruits are Negro.

Total disqualifications—for moral, mental or medical reasons—ranged from a low of 26.1 per cent for Iowa to a high of 59.8 per cent for South Carolina.

The report prepared by the Army surgeon general's office said that for the nation as a whole, the 1965 results of the preinduction examinations "indicate a substantial decrease in the total disqualification rate"—44 per cent, compared with 53 per cent in 1964.

The report said the over-all decrease seemingly is due to two factors:

—In 1965, especially in the second half of the year, a certain proportion of the registrants forwarded for preinduction exams were undbouted by 18-year-olds who had been screened on an earlier examination.

—Mental requirements for draftees were lowered, beginning in November, 1965.

The report said that of 1,228,976 draftees examined last year, 540,345 were disqualified for moral, mental or medical reasons.

9 Million Candidates

It also said that from July, 1950, through December, 1965, there were 9,409,875 candidates examined, and of these, 3,750,584 were disqualified.

Disqualification rates by states in 1965 in the North Atlantic area in terms of per cent of total disqualifications expressed in terms of 5- per cent intervals:

45-50: New York, Massachusetts.

State-by-state breakdowns aso were given for percentages of disqualifications for "mental" reasons — that is, general mental ability as distinguished from psychiatric evaluation — and those for "medical" reasons, which would include psychiatric causes.

Cite 48.2 PC

On the mental ability turndown score, the states ranged from a low of 5.1 per cent for Iowa to a high of 48.2 per cent for South Carolina, North Atlantic states in terms of 5 per cent intervals.

15-20: New Jersey, Connecticut, Maine.

20-25: New York.

South Carolina, which had the highest percentage of both total disqualifications and those for mental-ability reasons, had the lowest percentage of rejectees for medical reasons — 10 to 15 per cent. Massachusetts had the highest.

20-25: Connecticut, New Jersey.

25-30: Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire.

30-35: Vermont, Maine.

Northway Work Slows

KEESEVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Construction of a 28-mile stretch of the Northway drew almost to a standstill today because of a jurisdictional dispute between two unions.

More than 200 laborers and foremen were idled. A spokesman for Local 186 of the Laborers Union said the dispute with the Operating Engineers Union involved operation of loading machines.

gram experience who were unable to afford the full fee.

"The Youth Employment Service, designed to assist teenagers in finding summer jobs, has found meaningful work experiences for 47 youths in the area. For the school drop-out problem affects Ulster County, too," Stubbs said.

"We anticipate the NYC, an anti-poverty program aimed at dropouts and potential dropouts will be sponsored by the YMCA on a county-wide basis.

"In connection with extension services, the YMCA believes that it should not only continue to serve existing membership, but that it should constantly discover ways and means of providing YMCA services to adjacent smaller communities wherever possible.

Plans New Facilities

"It's no secret; the YMCA is planning for new facilities, and it has been planning since 1955. I'm happy to report to you that at a special board meeting in May of this year the Board of Directors approved a space budget and plans for a new family YMCA to be built with three or four units.

"The first of these units will include a large bright new swimming pool, two locker complexes, a youth lobby and multi-purpose room and office space. We also plan a winterized lodge for our camps in Shokan for use in winter months."

Stubbs concluded his speech with some remarks on the scheduled goal of the 1966 Community Chest campaign.

"Yours is a growing YMCA in a growing community and a growing county, and with you and your help it will continue to grow. But the Y is only one of 13 participating agencies of your Community Chest, which must keep pace with the growth of the area.

Goal Is Just

Charles Raible and George Tamke of the Community Chest Board have accepted a goal of $299,600 for this fall's campaign, a goal $81,000 larger than the 1965 drive, in order that these 13 agencies can do the job which they have accepted as theirs to do.

"I suggest the acceptance of this goal because it recognizes for perhaps the first time that the responsibility groups of citizens who make up the boards of directors of these agencies are not just pie in the sky outfits, but rather are people who know and have defined certain needs, and have accepted the meeting of these needs as their job to do.

"I suggest that the acceptance of the goal is the act of a community restoring confidence in itself and its citizens."

Veal Variation Tempts Tas te

BAKED VEAL ROLLS brighten hot weather appetites.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thinking up meals to tempt the family in hot weather is no easy job. Your best bet, you'll find, is a new variation on a familiar food, such as beef, veal, poultry, etc.

Try these veal rolls—they are stuffed with very thin slices of cheese and ham and deliciously seasoned with a packaged chicken coating mix. Or for another meal with a new twist, try the beef and corn casserole. It, too, is appetizingly different.

BAKED STUFFED VEAL

1 pound boned and trimmed veal steak, cut in 6 equal pieces
6 thin slices cooked ham
6 thin slices Swiss cheece
1 package seasoned coating mix for chicken

Pound veal to about ⅛-inch thickness. Top each with a slice of ham and a slice of cheese. Roll up; secure with wooden pick. Coat with seasoned coating mix as directed on package. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for about 20 minutes or until tender.

BEEF AND CORN CASSEROLE
(6 servings)

2 cups diced cooking beef
4 slices bread
3 eggs, well-beaten

Cut Suggested In Large American Tel. Holdings

Q) "Ever since 1928 my husband and I have been accumulating the stock of American Telephone and Telegraph. By taking up rights offerings, by stock splits and by moderate purchases from time to time, we have built our holdings up to 600 shares. In the last year or so the stock has come down 15 points a share. Should we diversify? If so, please name a better-yielding issue or another growth stock." C.L.T.

A) The stock of this company is one of the most frequently mentioned in the letters I receive. However, considering the large number of shareholders (over three million) this is not surprising. I think you should be complimented on your thrift and your stick-to-it-iveness.

On the other hand, no matter how good the record, nor how promising the outlook, I am a firm believer in diversification. American Telephone is an old reliable but has been hurt by FCC investigation of its rate structure, and the public's shift of interest away from this type of stock and money rates. Cut your holdings, switching to Indianapolis Power for bettetr yield and Plough, Inc., for growth.

Q) "My husband, because of health, will be forced to take early retirement at 55. In a few years I too will have to stop work and our income will be sharply curtailed. I have been pleased with the long-term performance of Minnesota Mining, which I own, but I am rather skeptical regarding both Ampex and Pan American Sulphur. We want to eventually increase our income for coming retirement." L.C.

A) You have a good stock in Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing. Payments to stockholders have increased every year since 1958. Long-term records of the other two companies, while satisfactory, nevertheless leave something to be desired, and in the case of Ampex, it has yet to pay a dividend.

For growth and gradually rising dividends over the years, I prefer FMC, Idaho Power and Winn-Dixie.

Fish Led YAF Poll at Fair

The Ulster County High School Chapter of Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) today announced the results of an opinion poll taken at their booth at the Ulster County Fair last week. The poll was restricted to people of voting age.

The results showed Hamilton Fish Jr. (R) leading Joseph Resnick (D) by 72 to 48, while in the Democratic governor nomination, Frank O'Conner led Franklin Roosevelt Jr. and Howard Samuels with votes of 41, 32, and 16, respectively.

Voters felt that taxes are the most important issue in the race for governor and favored a federal law concerning strikes in vital industries or services by almost two to one.

The issue of federal control of the sale of firearms was very close with 67 votes in favor and 69 votes against such legislation.

In local issues, the voters supported both Uptown and Downtown Urban Renewal as well as a colonial restoration and preservation project in Uptown Kingston.

The chapter's booth at the Fair also distributed free literature in support of United States troops in South Viet Nam, and against trade with the Communist-controlle countries.

Dentists Will Be Paid More Under State Medicaid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Maximum fees paid to dentists under the state's new medical-aid program will average about 40 per cent higher than previous rates, Gov. Rockefeller's administration reported today.

Budget Director T. Norman Hurd said a higher fee schedule had been worked out on the basis of recommendations from Health Commissioner Hollis S. Ingraham.

Hurd said the new schedule was put into effect on Aug. 15. The rates represent the maximum amount for which the state will reimburse local welfare districts administering the medical-aid program.

A spokesman said the increase averaged 40 per cent. For example, the fee for an examination was raised from $4 to $5, while the charge for an extensive filling was increased from $7 to $10.

A higher fee schedule was promulgated previously for medical services rendered under the new program.

Food Prices Take Another Jump Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices took another jump this week. The predictions offer little hope to harried housewives.

Bread, milk, egg and butter prices have been up sharply; grain, vegetable and fruit supplies have been cut by the weather, and increased labor costs are showing up on everything from lettuce to watermelons.

Butter prices this week were the highest since 1952.

Margarine, salad oil and shortening prices have been inching upward, reflecting the shifting demand for a lower - priced spread.

The forecast now is for short crops of corn, peas green and wax beans and cherries, with higher prices, both now for the fresh varieties and later when the canned and frozen ones move to market.

There is, however, a big pear crop.

Meat prices this weekend are mixed across the country.

Choice beef ribs are down in the Pacific Northwest, but up about 1 cent a pound in California. Veal is down 3 cents in Portland, Ore., but up 1 cent in San Francisco.

Pork is down in the midwest, but up on the West Coast.

Predict Higher Rates on Cars; Lower on Homes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're in the market for a new car, it may cost you a bit more. But if you're looking for someone to finance your purchase of a new home, it may be a bit easier this fall.

In both cases the key is tight money — rising interest rates in one segment of auto financing, but government largesse for the tightly squeezed mortgage market.

Tight money also is blamed this week for diverting still more investors from the stock market. And the rising interest rates are being felt by businessmen having more trouble to get a bank loan to finance their fall business inventories — and paying more for the loan when they land it.

The auto industry will be caught up in the credit squeeze next week as some finance companies and banks hike the interest charges on loans to car dealers for carrying inventories of new cars.

Customers Will Pay

The costlier loans won't add much to what dealers already pay for such financing, but many are expected to pass along the added amount to their customers in higher prices on the new models.

The dealers now pay 6 per cent for most such loans. Next week some finance companies will charge 6¼ per cent and some banks 6½ per cent. These loans allow the dealer to carry the new car until he can sell it. The length of time he has the unsold car in stock determines how much this charge adds to his cost of doing business — and to the price the customer will pay.

With the finance companies, the added interest charge is blamed on tight money. They have to pay investors more for funds to lend to the dealers, so they are going to charge dealers more.

But some suspect the banks have a different reason for raising the charge even higher than did the finance companies. The banks can usually get more than 6½ per cent these days for other types of loans to business.

Some contend the banks are really interested in discouraging car dealers from borrowing at a time when lendable funds are scarce, when banks are paying higher interest rates to savers to get funds to lend, and when they can get a bigger return from other kinds of loans for which the demand is still rising.

Money for Houses

In the housing market, the trend is the other way this week. The idea is to make borrowing easier, if possible, rather than more costly.

Congress is moving toward pumping $4.7 billion into the mortgage market, badly disrupted of late by a credit squeeze. Congress will do so by letting the Federal National Mortgage Association — Fannie Mae — make up to billion dollars in direct purchases of mortgages of less than $15,000 each. Half of the money would come direct from the U.S. Treasury and the other half from the President's emergency fund.

Fannie Mae's borrowing authority also would be increased by $3.7 billion. This would let the government agency buy more government-insured mortgages from private lenders. In theory at least, these money-short lenders would thus have funds once more. And they could use the money to lend on new mortgages.

Study Mohawk Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board had before it today a Mohawk Airlines request to serve Olean and Jamestown, N.Y., on flights to and from New York City.

Mohawk officials said Wednesday removal of the present restriction against Mohawk service between Jamestown and New York City would have little effect on the New York - Jamestown service provided by Allegheny Airlines.

They said Allegheny provides the service only to the Newark, N.J., airport, whereas Mohawk proposes to serve the city through Kennedy International Airport.

Mohawk asked permission for one round trip daily over the route. Officials said this route also would benefit Olean, which is 45 miles from Jamestown.

The Utica-based airline proposed to incorporate the new service in a schedule between Boston and Cleveland. The route would include stops at Hartford, Conn., Albany, N.Y., Kennedy Airport, Binghamton, N.Y., and Olean-Jamestown.

Troy Firm Gets Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration has awarded a $812,476 contract to Skyway Construction Co., Troy, N.Y., for modernization of the federal building in St. Albans, Vt., across Lake Champlain from Plattsburgh, N.Y.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's he trying to be — another Walt Disney?" asked a local observer of producer Ivan Tors.

The Budapest-born movie maker would like nothing more than to achieve the success with family audiences that Disney enjoys, but he is doing mighty fine as Ivan Tors.

Look at his activities:

Two high-rated television series, "Flipper" and "Daktari."

Has 3 More Films

Three movies for the summer-fall season — "Around the World Under the Sea," "Birds Do It," "Namu, the Killer Whale!" plus another shooting in Africa and six in preparation.

The difference between Disney and Tors seems to be that while Walt works with animals that are cartooned or automated, Ivan prefers the real thing.

Began With 'Sea Hunt'

"It all began when I was making 'Sea Hunt,'" said the producer. "During the years of filming we were exposed to sharks, killer whales and all kinds of supposedly dangerous fish. But the only real encounter was when a barracuda bumped against a man's chest. The man was wearing a St. Christopher's medal which the barracuda apparently thought was a fish."

Tors was intrigued by the apparent willingness of the sea beasts to tolerate the presence of human beings. He continued research with land animals as well and is now convinced that man and beast can coexist.

Approach Is Simple

"The approach is simple," he explained in his MGM office where he works surrounded by photographs of his four-footed and finny friends. "There was antagonism between man and animals during the centuries that man was a hunter.

"But now that hunting is no longer necessary, there is no problem in establishing a friendly relationship. The important step is to pass through the boundary that exists between different species."

He accomplishes that by putting the animal on a long chain and allowing it to grow accustomed to the presence of humans..

Tors figures he can train almost any animal in a year's time, and he constantly seeks new challenges. Right now he is teaching a tiger and a police dog to work together. They may costar in a future Tors production.

Dukes in Finals; Beat Jack's, 3-2 Subway Wins, 7-5

A two-run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning gave Royal Dukes a 3-2 win over Jack's Barber Shop and eliminated the Barbers from the City Softball League playoff. In the other game, Subway Grill upset Armstrong's, 7-5 with Richie Hoffman slamming a homer for the winners.

The Duke's-Jack's game was a battle all the way as winning pitcher George Norton gave up only two hits but the Barbers made them count.

In the top of the sixth, Eric Blackwell walked, only one of two given up by Norton, and Don Wells promptly laced a triple to score Wells, giving Jack's a 2-1 lead.

The Dukes bounced right back. Joe Tremper led off the bottom of the sixth by flying out. Tom Fiore slammed a double, Terry Corkery popped out, but then Rich Amato singled to send Fiore to third. Norton singled to score Fiore and Vince Smedes beat out an infield hit, Amato scoring from second.

Bill Stokes took the loss and Norton extended his record to 12-2 for the season.

The other game was lacking in details but Subway beat Billy Costello in the bottom of the fifth with a two run uprising. They gave the Armstrong's ace the worst shelling of the year, getting 12 hits off him. Richie Hoffman got the win.

Pirates Get Lead; S. F. Bows

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vernon Law's first comeback was five years in the making. Turnabout No. 2 required only 24 hours — and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates instant relief.

Law came out of the bullpen for the first time this season Wednesday night and shackled Philadelphia for six innings as the Pirates trimmed the Phillies 6-4 and inched back into first place in the National League race. They lead San Francisco, beaten by Cincinnati 9-4 in an afternoon game, by one percentage point.

Law turned the tables on the Phils 24 hours after they had shelled him from the mound in the first inning. He did not retire a batter Tuesday night, yielding three runs and failing to last for the 15th time in 21 starts.

In 1960 Law won 20 games for the world champion Pirates and captured the Cy Young Award as that year's top pitcher. Last season, after a five-year bout with arm troubles, he put it all together again, posting a 17-9 record and a 2.16 earned run average to earn Comeback of the Year honors.

Had 4.46 ERA

This year has been no picnic for the 36-year-old-right-hander. After his brief stint Tuesday night he showed an 8-5 won-lost record and a fat ERA of 4.46.

Wednesday night he came on for starter Tommie Sisk in the fourth inning, worked his way out of a none-out jam and allowed only one hit the rest of the way in nailing down victory No. 9.

While the Pirates moved past San Francisco again, the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Atlanta 2-1 in 11 innings and moved within two games of the top. Houston whipped St. Louis 7-2 and Chicago edged New York 6-5 in other NL games.

The Pirates broke a 4-4 tie on Bill Mazeroski's RBI single in the fifth inning and added an insurance run in the sixth on Matty Alou's run-scoring hit.

Vada Pinson cracked a grand-slam homer and two doubles in the Reds' romp over 20-game winner Gaylord Perry and the Giants. Bill Henry, who replaced Perry in the fifth with Cincinnati leading 5-3, was greeted by Pinson's bases-loaded shot.

Joe Nuxhall Is Winner

Joe Nuxhall went the distance for the Reds, who had lost six in a row, and boosted his record to 5-4. The loss, Perry's first since July 14, ended a four-game winning string for the Giants.

Maury Wills' single scored Jim Gilliam with an unearned run in the 11th, giving the Dodgers their fourth straight victory — including three one-run decisions over Atlanta.

Phil Regan, who wild-pitched the tying run home in the ninth, blanked the Braves thereafter and gained his 12th victory against a single loss.

The Astros broke a 24-inning scoring famine on Bob Aspromonte's run-producing single in the fifth, added two more runs in the inning and sewed it up with four more runs in the sixth — two on another single by Aspromonte. Mike Cuellar checked the Cardinals on five hits for his ninth victory in 15 decisions.

Randy Hundley's bases-loaded squeeze bunt pushed over the Cubs' winning run, capping a ninth-inning rally that erased a 5-4 Met lead. Trailing 5-2 in the eighth, the Cubs scored twice, then tied it on Billy Williams' single and Ron Santo's double in the ninth.

Nelson Misses Six-Game Mark

AKRON, O. — Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis came within a mark or two of hanging up a world's record in the recent $30,000 U. S. Coast Guard Festival PBA Open at Grand Haven, Mich. The boyish looking professional bowler was competing in the final qualifying round of the tournament when he unloosed games of 249-256-288-255 and 279 ...needing only a 207 in his final game to break the record of 1052 held by Gene Rhoda of Valparaiso, Ind. which was set in Columbus in 1964. However, Burton could muster only a 182 in that final game, leaving him with a six-game count of 1508 .. high for the season. He finished second in the tournament behind George Howard of Kalamazo, Mich.

Robinson Has Triple CrownShot

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles are in a bit of a slump but it'll take a Miracle of Michigan Avenue or a Legend of Lake Erie if Detroit or Cleveland are going to take advantage of it.

Both clubs picked up a game on the Birds Wednesday, the Indians with a 10-4 victory over them, but with less than 40 games to go the Orioles could hardly be blamed for not taking the defeat or their current three-game losing streak particularly seriously.

Baltimore remains 11½ games up on the second-place Tigers and a full 13 ahead of the Indians, who are in third. If the Indians win today the Baltimore losing string will equal its longest of the season. In all, the Orioles have lost four of their last five contests, all at the hands of Detroit and Cleveland.

Totally unaffected by the recent dip in his team's fortunes, however, is Frank Robinson who raised his league-leading homer total to 40 Wednesday with two shots in the losing effort.

Best Total Ever

That's one more than Frank's best previous output, attained in Cincinnati in 1962. For all his power, Robinson never led the National League in homers (or batting or runs batted in either, for that matter. But barring a Ruthian effort by Boog Powell, Harmon Killebrew, Joe Pepitone or one of that crowd, he's got the AL homer crown in the bag.

Detroit beat Chicago 6-2, California edged New York 2-1, Washington squeezed by Minnesota 6-5 in 11 innings and Kansas City took both games of a twi-night doubleheader 4-2 and 8-3.

The big Cleveland bats were swung by Joe Azcue, who had three runs batted in, and Max Alvis and Rocky Colavito, with two apiece. Robinson's three RBI raised his total for the season to 95, just two behind the league leader, teammate Boog Powell. He's second in hitting also.

Bill Freehan's first homer in more than a month started a four-run second inning for the Tigers. Willie Horton also homered and Mickey Lolich, with a little help from Orlando Pena, won his 13th game of the season.

Yankees Nipped

A sparkling pitching duel between Fred Talbot of the Yankees and Fred Newman of the Angels came to an abrupt end in the ninth inning when Ed Kirkpatrick sent a two-run homer, the sixth hit off Talbot, into the stands. Joe Pepitone hit his 28th homer in the bottom of the inning, the sixth Yankee hit.

The Twins and Senators took turns leading in their game and an 11th-inning error by Zoilo Versalles paved the way for the Washington triumph.

With one out and two on, a grounder went through the Minnesota shortstop's legs allowing the tying run to score. Ken McMullen then singled in the winning one. The Twins had taken the lead in the top of the inning on a wild pitch with the bases loaded.

Roger Repoz' three-run homer in the opener and two-run blasts by Ed Charles and Jim Gosger in the nightcap sent the Athletics to their victory. Mike Hershberger drove in three runs in the finale and Lew Krausse breezed to his 10th victory, allowing the Red Sox just five hits.

Japanese Team Gains Semis in LL Championship

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Three American teams and one from Japan face semifinal action today in the 20th annual Little League Baseball World Series.

Sacramento, Calif., and Houston, Tex., winners of first round games Tuesday, were scheduled to play at 2 p.m., EDT, West New York, N.J., and Osaka, Japan, winners of Wednesday action, were slated to meet at 5 p.m., EDT.

The winners of today's games will play for the international kid baseball championship title Saturday after a day — long breathing spell Friday.

Osaka moved into the semifinals by defeating Rhein Main Air Force Base, Germany, 6-2, in a game that went into extra innings.

The Japanese youngsters scored four runs in the top of the eighth inning on two walks, a passed ball, a wild pitch and three errors.

Soosuke Takahashi went all the way on the mound for Osaka, striking out six batters, walking only two and assisting in six put outs.

Brian Maxwell, who came in from center field to pitch for Rhein Main in the fourth inning, was charged with the loss.

Earlier, West New York defeated Kankakee, Ill., 3-1, on a three - run homer by pitcher Mario Ruiz.

Ruiz, 12, a native Cuban who fled with his family to the United States four years ago, hit an inside curve over the left field fence in the third inning. Kankakee's lone tally came in the top of third when third baseman Terry Lefton doubled, and shortstop L. C. Nutall followed with a single.

Cokes Captures Welter Title

By CHRIS ROBERTS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "As long as I own the title I don't care how much money I got," said Curtis Cokes, who won the world welterweight boxing championship Wednesday night but earned only $5,715.60.

Cokes outhustled Manuel Gonzalez in the 15-round title bout at Municipal Auditorium and after it was over the new champ said he thought he could beat anybody else in his class.

The fight was for the World Boxing Association's version of the 147-pound crown but Cokes will probably get recognition from the New York Athletic Commission and the French Boxing Federation—which both act independently of the WBA.

The wiry Cokes went after Gonzalez in the first round and continued to pursue him throughout the fight. The rabbit-fast Gonzalez flicked and tapped at Cokes in the early rounds. When Gonzalez tired enough to come down off his toes, Cokes started making his counter punches work.

Cokes pushed his record to 43-9-2 with the victory. Gonzalez, 27, now 36-14-6, said it was his last bout as a welter and he'd move up to the middleweight division.

Beat A. L., 4-3; Jaycees Romp; Mets Defeated

The two powers clashed in the Greater Kingston Little League Tournament and the Ulster Nytralite Tigers edged the American League Rondout National Bank, 4-3 in seven innings.

The Kingston Jaycees gained a life in the playoffs, winning their first game on a 2-0 shutout by Craig Struble over the Esopus Legion team. In the other game, the Rondout Valley Red Sox beat the National Mets, 3-2.

The Bankers never could get their vaunted hitting attack going against Ulster pitchers Mike Palladino and Steve VanKleeck. The Tigers led all the way, grabbing the lead in the bottom of the first with a two-run outburst against Banker pitcher Jim Ferraro.

Ferraro had a control problem, walking six Tigers in his brief stint. Fireman Joe Brown came in and held the Tigers to two runs over the last six innings. One of them was the clincher in the bottom of the seventh scored by Rich Gossett.

The Mets lost a tough one to Rondout as the Red Sox managed only two hits off Gil Williams and Bob Medley. Medley outhit the entire Red Sox team by himself, going 3-3. He also gave up five walks which proved his undoing. Bruce Burr got the win.

In the third game, Craig Struble brought the Jaycees back to life with a fine pitching performance. He allowed only three men to reach base, two via singles and one on an error. He fanned 10.

The Jaycees got only two hits off Tom Triscari but they made them count. In the bottom of the second a walk to Struble, a walk to John Machione, an error and a fielder's choice gave Struble all the runs he needed.

Finalists Determined In Softball Playoffs

Glasco Athletic Club, regular champions, Michael's Barber Shop, Anton's Restaurant and Miller's Rexall have advanced to the championship playoffs in the Saugerties Softball League.

Michael's routed Dale's Sunoco, 26-1, behind the one-hit pitching of Chops Lindsay and a "5 for 5" performance by Joe Benjamin that included a single, three doubles and a homer. Mick Iannone slammed two home runs.

Bob Wolven spun a 6-hitter to pace Glasco AC to a 13-3 romp over Ted's Essos. Ray Lasher led the winners with a single, triple and homer.

Miller's Rexall scored three runs in the top of the seventh to upset Southside Men's Club, 9-7. The Rexalls had finished the season with nine straight losses. Pete Kramer's two-run single was key blow.

Chick Carpino's 5-hitter sparked Anton's Restaurant to a 11-1 win over Vidi-Comm. Barry Trificante and Ernie Galinis slammed home runs.

ALONG THE FAIRWAYS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

The new generation is on the March at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The replacements for the Randalls and Bostics are already in the making, if the first year of the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic was any indication.

Wiltwyck's powerful squad swept to the team championship with an aggregate of 1552 strokes for five matches. That averages out to about 77.54 strokes a round for the four players comprising the weekly team.

Under MHJGC rules, the low four gross shooters from each club comprise that team's total for the day. Individual low gross ratings are based on the two lowest rounds in the first four plus the player's score for the final round. Here we find 17-year-old Bobby Costello leading the pack with a 214 total, an average of 71.3 per round.

Who are the other young Wiltwyck lions? Ed Byman, 15, runnerup with 220 that included a last-day 2-under-par 70 at Wiltwyck. Tom Gaffney, 15, finished with 1-under-71 and 221. Joe Bostic, 15, was fifth with 241 and Werner Kolln, 15, seventh with 257. That's five out of the top seven.

Wiltwyck's domination of the junior circuit is assured for next year, with only Costello too old to compete. Gaffney, Kolln, Bostic and Byman will form a formidable quartet in 1967. Other teams in the league will just have to build their strength to meet the Wiltwyck challenge.

Pitch and Putts:

The leading dynamo in the successful first season for the Junior Classic was M. Leslie Denning of Woodstock, who devoted a tremendous amount of time to the project . . . Gene Sarazen's "retirement" from tournament after the 1966 Masters appears to have been premature. The gentleman farmer from Germantown already has been involved in the Northeastern PGA Sectional and the Woodstock Open. Next stop is expected to be the Northeastern Seniors championships . . . The tournament golf season is far from over, despite the traditional Labor Day cutoff. For example, Wiltwyck still has the Eastern New York Golf Association (Sept. 7), a Member-Junior on Sept. 11 and the 36-hole Member-Guest, Sept. 17-18.

Three major events still remain on the Woodstock CC (calendar — the Member-Junior (Sept. 10), Member-Member, 36 holes, Sept. 24-25 and the Pro-Member-Guest on Oct. 2. Twaalfskill stages its 18-hole Member-Guest on Sept. 25 and Pro-Member on Oct. 9.

Sans Spectators:

Judging by the meagre crowds that watched the club championships at Wiltwyck, Twaalfskill and Woodstock, area golf is dead as a spectator sport. There are two important reasons for the decline — increased individual participation and constant exposure to TV golf. After watching the Palmer, Nicklaus, Player, Casper et al on the home screens, the area swingers are not much of a lure anymore. Winding Brook Country Club in Columbia County may have solved the ancient dilemma of the woman golfer. There are reports the new 9-hole addition will be set aside exclusively for women, except on men's tournament days.

Couple Hot Guys:

Wonder if anyone ever equalled Tom Gaffney's feat of shooting a birdie on three of Wiltwyck's four par-3 holes in the same round? Ironically, he missed a slean sweep (on No. 11) by an inch or two . . . Harry Thayer joined a rare coterie of golfers with a recent double-eagle 2 on Twaalfskill's 450-yard 7th hole. He mistakenly used his driver for the second fairway shot and the ball zoomed over the hill and into the cup. Abel Garraghan and Miss Barbara Vicevich were on the eighth tee when Harry uncorked his historic shot.

Red Hook Golfer Captures State Women's Seniors

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Grace Ryan of New York City and Red Hook is the 1966 New York State Senior Women's Golf champion today, and there's no one within 7 strokes to challenge her title.

Mrs. Ryan, the former Grace Amory, carded a 79 Wednesday to give her a total of 156 in the 36 - hole competition over the Wolfert's Roost Country Club course here. It was her first year in the event.

Her nearest competition came from the defending champion, Mrs. Douglass Coupe of Loudonville, who was 7 strokes back with 163.

In spite of bogies on the first and second holes and a double bogey on the eighth, Mrs. Ryan went out in 40 and came back with 39. Mrs. Coupe carded 83 in the first round Tuesday and 80 in the final round.

Mrs. James Sherman of Clinton, the 1964 champion, gained third place this year with 166.

Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of Garden City was 3 strokes back in fourth place with 169. She had won the tournament in 1960 and 1961.

Mrs. John Pennington of Buffalo, a member of the United States Golf Association Women's committee, earned fifth place with a 173. She had an 86 Wednesday after an 87 in the first 18 holes.

Tied For Sixth

Mrs. A. L. Sayles of Schenectady and Mrs. Gerald Haollenbeck of Catskill each compiled total of 178 to tie for sixth place.

Mrs. H. J. Noerling of Claverack was one stroke back after an 85 Tuesday and a 94 Wednesday.

One-hundred women competed in the 14th annual event over the par 73 course, which is 5,544 yards long.

Mrs. George Dennis, Albany 91-90—181.

Mrs. R. M. Ackerman, White Plains, 94-88—182.

Nardin's Knight Bags Upset Over Favored Pick

MONTICELLO — The old adage, "anything can happen in a horse race," was never more clearly defined than Wednesday at Monticello Raceway in the featured third race. Dream Pick, sent off the 1-5 favorite by the fans, loked like the surest thing you'll ever see on the turf but to the disappointment of many, he finished a soundly beaten last.

Dream Pick, one of the best two-year-olds to ever compete over the Mighty M oval, had been clocked in 2:03 in his start before last. Besides the winner of the race, King Omaha, who was also timed in 2:03, only one other two-year-old had ever gone faster here. That was Romulus Hanover who set a track record of 2:03.3 earlier in the summer.

A son of Gene Abbe-Dream Hal, Dream Pick's solid backing was completely justified. His contemporaries for the evening didn't seem capable of coming within smelling distance.

But, shortly after passing the eighth pole, the handsome two-lear-old colt went off stride and nearly fell. Driver Bob Campbell righted him, snaked him back on gait and set sail after the leaders.

Hopes were not completely lost, though. Campbell and Dream Pick caught the leaders at the half and moved up to follow Bob Camper's El Picador, who was battling Nardin's Knight Bill Popfinger up, for the lead.

Going to the three-quarter pole, Campbell moved the Dreamer three wide and he quickly tok a slight lead as they flew into the last turn. There however, Dream Pick made another break and ruined his chances altogether.

That left Nardin's Knight and El Picador to fight to the wire and the former made it there first by a half length. The time was 2:07 and Howard McCullough's Tough Time got up for the third place finish.

There was no show wagering for the event. A $1,500 pace for freshman colts. Nardin's Knight, a bay son of Knight Star-La Contessa who is owned by Trader Horn, Inc., of Miami, Fla., and trained by Bill Haughton, returned a juicy $28.80, and 11.20 in the first two slots.

The 2 and 5 daily double paid $11.80. Winning horses were Artie Dares in the first and Ju Lynn in the second. The evening's twin double returned $286.60. Winning combination was 1-2-4-3 and there were 87 live tickets. The perfecta paid $21.60. Winning combination was 7-3. A crowd of 4,900 was on hand to wager $266,301.

Olive Swimming Is Big Success

There was a daily average attendance of 85 children in the 6 to 17 year age group, nearly double the number that participated in 1965.

A highly successful swimming show was staged on Au. 18 under the supervision of Patricia Kunkle and Susan Witko for the benefit of the parents to show the progress of the children in the program.

Wes Kissel was director of the highly successful program. He reports that the pool is still open from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. each day of the week for the adult swimming program.

The certificates:

Beginners — Bryan Boyd, James Leddy, Chris Molloy, Kevin Molloy, Rosemarie Proffitt, Heidi Rachner, Stephen Rachner, Ann Roser, Calalio Scanlon, Joseph Scognamiglio, Donna Tompkins.

Advanced Beginners — James McGloughlin, Shirley North, Robert Proffitt, Kevin Scanlon, John Scognamiglio, Ann Smith, Judy Stahl, Carl Steen, Gary Tompkins.

Swimmer — Matthew Burgher, Patti Burgher, John Jameson, Paul Malek, Mary Pat Molloy, Einor Norman.

OFFENSE

PASSING—Can a 33-year-old quarterback come back from a knee operation? He can, if he's John Unitas. Besides, Gary Cuozzo's all healed, too. And Coach Don Shula's tinkering with rollout Tom Matte. RATING—A—

RECEIVING—Age can't slow up Jimmy Orr, Raymond Berry. They're slow to begin with, but oh so nifty. Look for Rick Kestner, Kentucky rookie to jump ahead of Willie Richardson as first reserve. John Mackey at tight end as solid as any in pros, with Butch Wilson to help. RATING—B+

RUNNING—Ideal would be to use Jerry Hill, Tony Lorick (both fullbacks) at same time—if Tony doesn't fluff blocking assignments. Lennie Moore's spry at 32 but ready to show age. Maybe Mike Curtis will put all that physique to work. And don't forget handyman Matte. RATING—B

LINE—Biggest turnover in decade with retirement of Sandusky, Preas on right side. Don't worry about left side, with all-pros Bob Vogel, Jim Parker and Dick Szymanski to take care of center (with Glenn Ressler's help). But all hinges on Sam Ball, No. 1 draftee, or Butch Allison (No. 2), who could joust vet Dan Sullivan at guard. RATING—B

KICKING—Left-footed Lou Michaels handles placements again Had good year even if he blew chance to win title in sudden death vs. Green Bay. Has strong foot. Punting up in air with departure of Tom Gilburg, who was no great shakes in clutch. High hopes for rookie Jim Hollingsworth. RATING—B—

DEFENSE

LINE—If Ordell Braase, at 34, stays in one piece, they'll do all right. Since Marchetti retirement, it's rather nondescript. Distinct lack of weight at tackles, though Fred Miller, Billy Ray Smith feature great mobility. And acquisition of ex-Giant Andy Stynchula adds maneuverability up front, plus depth. Miller could also be an end if any surprises show up. Michaels steady. RATING—B

SECONDARY—It's going to be impossible to keep Al Haymond out of starting unit. Figures to oust Jim Welch at free safety. Nobody's going to touch Jerry Logan at strong safety, or all-pro Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyles on the corners. Good unit blend of experience and vigor. RATING—B+

SUMMARY—Any assessment of Colt chances starts with the big gun, Unitas. Assuming he's O.K., they'll figure high again. Shula has some problems: couple of vacancies up front on offense, more consistent running threat. Defense looks solid, if not spectacular. Possible punting problems. PREDICTION—FIRST.

Canadian Driver Debuts Tonight At Monticello

MONTICELLO — Gilles Lachance, currently Canada's leading dash - winning driver with 127 victories, has invaded Monticello Raceway. The 27-year-old reinsman, who last year piled up a fantastic 206 triumphs, will be at the Mighty M for the rest of the season and makes his debut tonight.

His racers are pacers Helen Jo Adios, Shadydale Chant, Brave Will and Eddie Lee, plus trotters Jill Fedor, James Vance, Clever Who and Gola's G.

outside Montreal. He's considered one of the finest Canadian

His 206 victories last season were seven behind Ron Feagan, the 1965 Canadian champion. He and Feagan were the first Canadian born pilots to ever reach the 200 level and two of five chauffeurs in the North American continent to go over the plateau last season.

Wants to Retain 15-MPH Warning On School Signs

Joseph A. Marvella, Liberal Candidate for State Senate, today said if he is elected he will make all attempts possible to get 15 miles per hour back on school signs.

Marvella said under the States new uniform traffic signal and signs law which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1968, 15 miles per hour will be left out of the new uniform signs and that the signs will only read "school."

"Already the state has put up such signs in front of Violet Avenue School in the Town of Poughkeepsie, without 15 miles an hour on them," he said.

Realizing that motorists should know how fast they should go in front of schools when school is in session, Marvella pointed out that many children use the librarys in schools during summer (giving Violet Avenue as an example) and the school's playground.

"If the state admits that 15 miles an hour in front of school is unrealistic, why are they attempting to do away with the 15 miles an hour? The law still is 15 miles an hour and until it is changed, 15mph should remain on the signs," Marvella said.

Forests for the Future

U.S. consumption of wood products is skyrocketing with a major share of rising demand accounted for by a "paper explosion." More and more paper is being used for more and more purposes—for publications, for disposables in homes and industry, for office copying and electronic data processing equipment, and even for clothing. Current consumption is estimated at some 51 million tons a year, about 520 pounds for every American, and growing. To meet the increasing demand on the nation's timber resources, forest genetics experts are turning to the same scientific techniques that in the past have yielded better corn, wheat, cotton and many other agricultural advances. The process of developing strains of supertrees to meet the needs of the future already is well under way.

Genetic control developed this stand of perfect pines, destined to reach heights of nearly 70 feet, at the Alabama nursery of a major wood pulp producer, Kimberly-Clark Corp.

This crop of seedling pines, the end product of grafting and cross-pollinating superior trees, will be transplanted in cut-over forest areas. By the time the new trees are mature and ready to harvest, in 30 years, U.S. demand is expected to be more than double the present.

Cross-pollination is accomplished by wrapping plastic bags filled with pollen from superior "male" pine flowers around "female" flowers. The bag keeps out wind-carried pollen from inferior trees, resulting in a cone containing superior seed for nursery planting.

No Chance to Avert Canadian Rail Strike

OTTAWA (AP) — Union and railroad negotiators headed into a last-ditch bargaining session today that both sides agreed had virtually no chance of averting a nationwide rail strike set for Friday.

There was no sign that a break was in sight, but hopes were held that some progress could be shown before a special session of the Canadian parliament Monday, when the government has said it would present legislation to prevent a prolonged walkout.

Today's session was a follow-up to 12 hours of talks Wednesday guided by Labor Minister John R. Nicholson and his top labor relations expert, Bernard Wilson. Wilson called Thursday's mediation a "softening-up process" for the climactic bargaining today.

The government's plan for outlawing a rail strike was not disclosed, but some labor leaders said privately the 116,000 workers of the Canadian National Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway might defy the law unless it provided an acceptable wage increase.

Wages are at the heart of the bitter dispute. The 17 unions are asking a 30 per cent boost for their members, who now average $2.23 an hour. The railroads have refused to consider such a raise, but they made no counter proposal.

1,200 of UAW Demonstrate at Chrysler Plant

DETROIT (AP) — More than 1,200 skilled United Auto Workers demonstrated Wednesday in front of Chrysler Corp. headquarters to promote their demands for an immediate $1-an-hour raise.

The parade of workers grew from 100 to more than 1,200 over four hours as the UAW members expressed displeasure with rejection of union requests to reopen labor contracts and negotiate pay hikes for skilled workers.

The Big Three auto firms — Chrysler, General Motors and Ford—Monday turned down the UAW requests to reopen contracts to bargain over demands for at least a 50-cent hourly increase. The pacts will expire Sept. 6, 1967.

The demonstration was orderly.

Auto plants reported no large-scale absenteeism of skilled workers, and skilled trades leaders said this was because they had restrained workers from stopping work to demonstrate. Most paraders apparently were off duty.

There are nearly 100,000 skilled tradesman in the Big Three, with some 600,000 semi-skilled or unskilled production workers.

City Court Cases

One of three charges lodged against a driver after a recent downtown mishap was dismissed in City Court today, and sentence was imposed on two others. Leone Rowles, 25, of 24 Abeel Street, was fined $25 each on charges of leaving the scene of an accident, and lacking a license. One of petit larceny lodged because she allegedly had taken a car without consent of its owner was dismissed. Barbara Jones, 34, of 112 Main Street, charged with a traffic violation and driving without a license, was fined $5 on the former and $50 on the latter, which was listed as a second such offense.

VFW Convention Seen Productive In Americanism

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Brian, New York State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said today the VFW national convention here has been "most productive in the field of Americanism."

Brian, executive secretary of the Ogdensburg Chamber of Commerce, said:

"We have definitely taken a stand and suggested programs that will encourage each of our components throughout the United States and its possessions to take definite steps to break the apathy of the American people regarding respect for the flag and the country's laws and institutions."

Adopted Resolutions

On Wednesday, the convention adopted a series of resolutions, among them ones which:

— Opposed, the admission of Red China to the United Nations and said that if China is admitted, the U.S. should withdraw.

— Endorsed a policy of "isolating Red China by economic, and where appropriate, by military means until such time as Red China renounces. . .its aggressive threats. . against other peoples and other nations"

— Urged the enactment of legislation to prohibit "damaging activities against our government in time of hostilities

Condemned Critics

— Condemned those who criticize and protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam, and "who by their unpatriotic actions undermine the position of the United States.

— Condemned the "open door policy" which permits foreign manufacturers to sell in the United States drugs made abroad from formulas allegedly stolen from American pharmaceutical firms.

— Commended the House Committee on Un-American Activities and expressed the VFW's appreciation to the committee "for the services it is performing on behalf of the country."

College Plan

— Proposed that no college student by exempted from the draft unless he is enrolled in a reserve officer training program or "other federal programs" leading to a commission "with the firm and inescapable commitment of such persons to be called and to serve in the military service."

Brian said he disagreed with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who told delegates Tuesday of the Defense Department's plan to train some men disqualified for the draft for health and education reasons often rooted in poverty.

"McNamara speaks the viewpoint of the administration and I disagree entirely with his tying in the issue of poverty with the defense movement," Brian said.

Scored Reports

Brian criticized some newspaper reports about the VFW parade Tuesday night along Fifth Avenue. The parade lasted beyond midnight and touched off hundreds of telephone complaints to City Hall and police.

One report, he said, greatly underestimated the number of persons who witnessed the parade.

"It should not be overlooked," he said, "that most of the people in New York received us wonderfully. We are proud of that."

Brian told an interviewer that he had "no quarrel with the press in general.

"I think that in all honesty," he said, "that the press realizes its responsibility to the American public and that it realizes as much as we do that we don't want to create a situation in which we have a fear of the press.

"But we should call attention to the fact that we have a fear for the press and its right to operate as a free press should. I believe that this responsibility and danger are shared by the editors throughout the land."

Both Sides Score Pittsburgh Top On Milk Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "Too little," said Pittsburgh area dairies of a milk price increase ordered by the state Milk Commission. "Too much," answered consumers and various governmental officials.

Criticism came from both sides Wednesday after the commission placed a ceiling on milk prices in Southwestern Pennsylvania, granting dairies an increase of 1½ cents per quart and producers 55 cents more per hundredweight on bulk milk.

Previously the commission had established only minimum prices.

F.W. Ellenberger, attorney for Harmony Dairymen's Association, said, "We appreciate this increase very much, but we cannot hope to induce young men to stay on the farm at these prices."
